Hallowe'en Parties and Treats Will Have Goblins at Schools

On Friday afternoon most Sedalia grade school children will pay no attention to their studies, and the teachers won't even try to correct the situation. In fact, the teachers will deliberately ignore studies, too.

It's not a strike against education. On Friday afternoon all Sedalia grade schools will observe Hallowe'en with parties, games, and refreshments, and some with costume contests.

Sacred Heart School will have classroom parties, and the children will display their Hallowe'en posters and essays. There will also be a panel discussion on the origin of Hallowe'en.

Broadway School will begin its classroom parties for the first three grades at 2:45 p. m., at which the PTA homeroom mothers will serve refreshments.

Hubbard School will have a Hallowe'en Eve party at the school, with the rooms decorated with corn stalks and pumpkins. Prizes will be given for the best costumes.

Jefferson School will hold its afternoon recess early, at 2:10 p. m., and then the classroom parties will begin for all seven grades. The children will march from room to room to show off their costumes, and the homeroom mothers will serve refreshments. A movie show, consisting of six comedies, will begin at 2:40 p. m.

Horace Mann School will hold costume parties in the afternoon. The first three grades will begin immediately after lunch, while the fourth through the seventh grades will begin at 2:15 p. m., after recess.

The first three grades at Mark Twain School will participate in a costume parade across the stage of the auditorium, with prizes to be given the pupils with the best costumes. All grades will have classroom parties, with treats to be given by the homeroom mothers.

Washington School will devote the last hour of the afternoon Friday to games and refreshments for the children at individual classroom parties, to be assisted by the home room mothers.

Pupils at Whittier School are busy making their own masks in preparation for the Hallowe'en parade to be held there beginning at 3 p. m. This will be followed by classroom parties at which the homeroom mothers will serve. Hallowe'en decorations are also being placed throughout the school.

Convicts Present Proposal

Acting Governor Told to Meet All Demands Before They Release 7 Hostages

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — Rebellious convicts in Menard state prison today gave acting Governor Sherwood Dixon an ultimatum—meet all their demands without question before they release their seven hostages.

Their demand on Dixon was delivered to two prison chaplains.

Robert Rees, the prison's public information director, said Dixon "obviously is not going to dignify the demands by commenting now."

Rees said another condition laid down by the convicts was that their 12 demands be printed in metropolitan newspapers of St. Louis and Chicago.

The list of demands given last night and again today to the prison chaplains included relaxation of parole requirements, better food, better treatment by guards, less favoritism and better medical service.

The stiffening of the convicts' demands came after hope had been expressed by Dixon that the 331 convicts might end their rebellion and release the seven guards today. They have had little food or water since they took over the east cell house Monday afternoon in the second rebellion at the prison in five weeks.

When their committee was told several of the demands would call for legislative action the convicts agreed to withdraw those.

As the convicts' attitude toughened, prison guards and state police reported unusual activity in the fan room of the besieged east cell block, with many of the insurgent convicts moving in and out of the room. Fans in the room are an essential part of the heating system.

"If they wreck those fans it will cut off their heat and they will be hurting themselves," a prison officer said.

Word leaked out today that one inmate who suffered a broken foot was passed out of the cell house to guards yesterday. He was removed to the prison hospital.

Three hostages already have been freed. That move came yesterday when 38 psychiatric inmates surrendered and gave up the hostages unharmed on Dixon's promise to hear their grievances.

After that break in tension, Dixon told the remaining convict holdouts:

"As soon as you restore order and release the seven guards I will sit down with you and hear every grievance."

Late last night two prison chaplains entered the cell block at the inmates' request. When they returned from the darkened building they came with word that the seven hostages were apparently in good health. They also carried a list of 12 demands drafted by the prisoners.

Prison officials would not reveal all of the demands, but at a news conference attended by wives of the imprisoned guards, Dixon said:

"They ask increased medical service and a better food supply. And of course, they all want to get out."

He added that he was confident the hostages would be released unharmed and the trouble ended, perhaps sometime today.

In Chicago yesterday a member of the legislative committee which investigated a September riot at the prison said the group had been told of "drunkenness" and "dirty food" at the institution.

State Sen. Peter J. Miller, secretary of the committee, said a "partial report disclosed shocking conditions of immorality, drunkenness, inadequate and dirty food that contained flies and cockroaches."

Two Injured In Accident Near LaMonte

C. E. Knatcal, Ralph Brim In Vehicles Colliding on Hiway

C. E. Knatcal, 46, 707 West 11th, was severely injured about 12:45 p.m. Thursday when his car crashed into the rear of a 1947 pick-up truck driven by Ralph J. Brim, 67, La Monte, about two miles east of the La Monte junction.

According to Mr. Brim, he was driving east on Highway 50 to the farm of his son, Paul Brim, on route 1, La Monte, and was turning into the driveway when the Chevrolet sedan of Mr. Knatcal was also driving east on the highway.

The Ford pick-up truck was knocked into a small ditch and overturned on its top, and the Chevrolet sedan of Mr. Knotcal went into the ditch alongside the truck, but did not turn over.

Paul Gottschalk, route 1, La Monte, was passing at the time and stopped and ran back to the scene. With others they succeeded in lifting the truck and getting Mr. Brim out of the wreckage. Knatcal was still in his car and he was assisted out and later brought to the Bothwell Hospital in the McLaughlin ambulance.

Mr. Knatcal suffered severe injuries to his nose and lacerations on his face. He was treated by Dr. Karl B. Gonser.

Mr. Brim was taken to the hospital by his son and he was treated by Dr. D. R. Edwards. He suffered bruises and a fracture of a rib on the left side.

Fire Destroys Farm Homes Just East of Clinton

CLINTON, Mo. (AP) — Several farm houses were destroyed today in a fire that roared out of control about 6½ miles east of here.

The fire was reported in Sedalia as being on the Chris Dody farm on the new rock road off Highway 35.

Lincoln residents were made uneasy by the odor of smoke, believed to have come from this blaze or the one near La Monte.

All available men in Clinton were called out to help battle the flames which started in a field and spread to nearby timber. Highway workers were sent to the scene with bulldozers.

"We're not making much headway," reported Freeman Grounds, the Henry County courthouse janitor, who was taking calls in the office of Sheriff Robert Eberting. "The wind is too strong."

He said he had heard of no one being trapped by the flames.

Earlier some farm families were reported to have taken refuge in open fields.

At the same time fire fighters were battling another fire a mile and a half west of the city along the Grand River.

Polio Slacks Off Last Week In State

JEFFERSON CITY, (AP) — Polio slacked off a little in Missouri last week, but new cases are still coming in faster than they did last year at the same time.

The state health division reported today 39 new cases of polio (infantile paralysis) were listed last week, compared with 65 the week before. That brought this year's total so far to 1,028.

Commies In Big Assault

Greatest Offensive In Weeks Launched On Triangle Hill; UN Wins Other Peak

SEOUL, Friday (AP) — About 2,000 Cinese Communists last night hurled probably the biggest attack in weeks at Triangle Hill even as Allied infantry threw other Reds from the top of nearby Sniper Ridge.

The battle raged into its 18th day with no sign of letup.

Through the charge and counter-charge of ground forces, artillery of both sides churned both Central Front heights with possibly the heaviest fire of the war.

The Chinese attacking Triangle Hill struck with three battalions, but two of the battalions withdrew after an hour of savage fighting, possibly to regroup, a front dispatch said. The third battalion still was attacking early today.

On adjacent Sniper Ridge, 2,000 Chinese Reds had burst from a deep, uphill tunnel and seized the crest, known as Pinpoint Hill. But Allied forces rallied and recaptured it with clubbed rifles and cold steel.

Thousands of rounds of artillery fire from both sides churned the rocky summit into sand during the savage fighting and was continuing without letup. An Eighth Army staff officer said it probably would rate as the most intense shelling of the war.

The Allied troops were dug in 50 yards down the slope from the summit of Pinpoint, taking cover from the hail of shells which blistered the crest.

They drove the Chinese off that highest peak of Sniper Ridge at mid-afternoon under Red artillery and mortar shelling described by the officer as "very deadly."

Then they split into three assault forces and tried to smash the Chinese all the way back to the Yoke, a maze of caves and tunnels guarding the northern end of 1½-mile-long Sniper Ridge.

But intense Communist shelling and small arms fire turned back the assault forces.

The Eighth Army said its troops had inflicted 5,789 casualties on the Reds in the week ended Tuesday, bringing the total for the first four weeks of October to 32,885. That made October the heaviest month of the year and the biggest since last November.

Earlier today, the Chinese burst out of a long tunnel which opened near the summit of Pinpoint and forced the Allied defenders off the peak.

They struck without warning in their first major daylight assault of the furious, seesaw battle. The shell-proof tunnel protected the Reds from Allied artillery sharpshooters.

Burrowing like ants the Chinese started their tunnel under an overhanging cliff and dug it almost to the summit.

They swarmed out of the mouth, heedless of their own shellfire.

AP correspondent John Randolph, the only U. S. newsman near the ridge, said:

"The new Chinese daytime power boded ill for tonight with the Allies getting such a late start in their new attack on Pinpoint."

Randolph added that the rate of Chinese artillery fire was running two and three times the Allied rate.

Allied fighter-bombers pounded the north end of Sniper Ridge but heavy Communist anti-aircraft fire hampered them. At U. S. Eighth Army headquarters a briefing officer commented:

"It's virtually impossible to stop their reinforcements because of that tunnel."

Elsewhere along the front small-scale but bitter fighting was reported.

Grunewald Pleads Innocent to 22 Contempt Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald today pleaded innocent to a 22 - count charge of contempt of Congress arising from his refusal to answer questions put to him by a House committee investigating tax frauds.

Grunewald was arraigned in U. S. district court before Judge Bolitha J. Laws who set his trial to begin Jan. 19 and released him under $2,500 bond.

Grunewald was indicted by a federal grand jury last week.

Each of the 22 counts was based on his refusal to answer some questions from the House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating tax frauds. The group, headed by Rep. King (D-Calif), had Grunewald before it last January.

Grunewald, who long has had a wire-puller in Washington, told the investigators he was born in 1892 but wouldn't tell them much of anything else—not even where he was born.

LaMonte Alarmed By Fire

Grass Blaze Spreads Until 300 Persons, Including SAFB Men, Get It Under Control

A carelessly tossed cigarette by a motorist started a prairie fire which could have proved disastrous to the city of La Monte about 9:30 a.m. Thursday. Hard and fast work by more than 300 volunteers, ranging from school children to grown men and women, brought the fire under control with a minimum loss to property.

Citizens of La Monte are extremely grateful to the personnel of the Sedalia Air Force Base and the city of Warrensburg, which sent fire fighting equipment, and to the hundreds of volunteers who rushed to the scene and formed bucket brigades or beat the fire with wet sacks.

Stopped at City's Edge

The fire was stopped at the north end of the west side of the town when Elvin Wells of the La Monte Special Road District drove the road maintenance machine into the field and dropped the cutting blade to slash away the dry grass, making a ten-foot path.

The Sedaila Air Force Base had more than 35 GI's on hand in their work clothes. The men accompanied the large tank truck to La Monte, riding in five pick-up trucks equipped with fire pump buckets and water barrels.

The fire started on the north shoulder of Highway 50 about a half mile west of the Clair E. Files filling station. It swept northward from there but was kept in a bath of between 250 and 700 feet wide by volunteers who ran along the edges beating the flames with wet sacks and shooting water on them with fire pump buckets.

More Than Mile Long

The path was swept along fast by the strong wind blowing northeast, and was than a mile long before being cut off.

Before the fire was completely out, the Warrensburg combination street flusher and fire truck, equipped with a tank carrying 1,500 gallons of water, arrived on the scene with two firemen. Clarence Martin and John McMillan, and it was put into operation.

Burns Small Buildings

The fire burned into the back yard of a vacant residence owned by Julius Watson, Sparta, setting fire to a small tool shed, an outside toilet and the rear part of a one-car garage. The loss was estimated at about $300. Quick action of neighbors, in putting to use garden hoses, kept the fire from getting into other buildings along the path of the blaze.

La Monte residents express gratitude for the water system which was obtained about three years ago through a $55,000 bond issue. The system was completed about a year ago, and today it was put to good use by the volunteer fire department and others. The fire men used two long one-half inch hose lines to get water to various threatened areas, which otherwise might not have been held in control.

Mayor Directs Fight

Paul Moore, fire chief at La Monte, was in Kansas City when the fire broke out, and the directing of the fire fighters fell under the jurisdiction of Mayor Floyd McKeehan.

The Sedalia Air Force Base personnel was under the direction of Major James Burlingame and Lieut. W. J. Buffo. As soon as the fire was completely under control the men returned to their base to stand by to assist other communities in danger.

The La Monte High School was dismissed so the older boys and girls could go to the scene and give their assistance. This crew of volunteers stood their ground and fought alongside their elders.

CAA Approves City Airport After Check

District Engineers Make Official Visit Here on Wednesday

The Sedalia Municipal Airport, 2½ miles east of Sedalia on Highway 50, has received the approval of the Civil Aeronautic Administration. The approval was given Wednesday afternoon by F. D. Bellamy, district airport engineer, and Wayne Wyatt and S. O. Harter, airport engineers, all from the CAA office in Kansas City.

The CAA officials accompanied by Mayor Herb Studer, T. J. McMillin, chairman of the Public Buildings and Grounds Committee and Councilman Harry Moore member of the committee; William H. Guhman, consulting engineer, of Clayton, Mo; James W. Atkinson, resident engineer for the construction of the airport; Fred Handley, city clerk; Marvin Howard of the Howard Construction Co., which built the airport, and Willis Jabas, city sanitation officer.

The men made a thorough inspection of the runways, building, the field in general, and gave their approval. However, under the recommendation of the CAA officials the runways are to be sealcoated.

Although it is not necessary to sealcoat the asphalt runways, that will give an added protection to them in severe winter and wet weather. The cost was estimated at approximately $2,000 with the government to split the cost with the city.

It was pointed out that although the runways are acceptable to the Government agency, the sealcoating will give a much better surface and will add years of service.

Guhman Concurs Opinion

Guhman, who drew the plans for the airport, concurred with the CAA officials on their inspection. A brief ceremony was held with the keys to the airport administration building and to locks to gates leading to the runways were turned over to Councilman McMillin and Councilman Moore.

The next proceedure is to take approval before the City Council for its final acceptance.

It was explained by Bellamy that plans for the footings for the beacon light tower would be sent to Sedalia immediately. As soon as the footings have been placed the tower will be put into place, electrified, and placed in operation. An air-sock will be placed on top of the tower to inform incoming pilots the wind direction.

Although the field has not been opened officially, several fliers have landed on the runway. The runway was also used during fair week by a blimp.

Council To Wait On Operation

Mayor Studer explained that until the airport is officially accepted he doubted if the Council will discuss its management or operation. "The city will be interested in the best offer possible," Mayor Studer explained," especially one which will not cost the city anything for operation."

The new airport replaces the old Municipal Airport near Dresden, which is now used by Jack Funk for a flying school.

The cost of Sedalia's new airport is $110,000. The government paid $55,000, the City of Sedalia $45,000 and the State of Missouri $10,000. Sedalia was given part credit on its portion of the money for its investment in the farm land, purchased after disposal of the old airport properties.

Oops, So Sorry!

A trash fire by careless people, as dry as everything is at present, might make them sorry too late.

That almost happened in one neighborhood today when someone set trash on fire and then went off and left it. The fire reached their house and would have probably destroyed it had it not been for neighbors who noticed it in time.

Adlai Pledges to Seek Halt To Government-Business War

EN ROUTE WITH STEVENSON IN PENNSYLVANIA (AP) —Gov. Adlai Stevenson pledged today if elected President he would strive to end the "noisy and unnecessary" business.

The Democratic presidential nominee, in the second day of a whistle-stop tour through the farm, mining and industrial areas of important Pennsylvania, told a cheering crowd at Reading there was no basis to claims that businessmen are reactionaries.

Asserting that the nation's businessmen are too often neglected during political campaigns, Stevenson said flatly in this Democratic stronghold — the city went nearly two-to-one for President Truman in 1948 — that "America cannot survive without prosperous business."

He denied there was any of "the creeping, crawling socialism that shows up in Republican oratory."

Police Lt. Warren H. Prince estimated the trainside crowd at 3,000 in Reading as Stevenson turned from his attacks on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to praise business.

He said there had been a deliberate effort to make some businessmen look upon the Democratic administration "with something less than love." But he added the Democrats had done more business in the last 20 years than had been done in any similar period.

A brand new wave of optimism swept through the Stevenson camp as he "poured it on" the Republicans.

Again he struck at the "peddlers of snake oil" as he has referred to the Republican party. And then went on to say that government and business must learn to live in harmony without anything being done to set class against class.

Earlier at Pottstown, Pa., his first stop today where Police Chief Laughhead estimated 3,000 people turned out, he jibed at Eisenhower as having said he "would not turn the clock back" if he were elected president.

"I'm worried about that clock the general talks about," he said, "but first I think he'd better get a clock that tells the right time."

Stevenson rapped Eisenhower as having 'swallowed Senator Taft and the Old Guard hook, line and sinker, and there were plenty of hooks on that line."

Mrs. Crosby's Life Still Ebbing Away

Mrs. Bing Crosby

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Dixie Lee Crosby's life continued to ebb away today. The 40-year-old wife of singer Bing Crosby remained in a coma and her physician held little hope for her survival.

At her bedside were Bing and their four sons, Dennis and Philip, 18, who flew home from Washington State College; Gary, 19, who came from his studies at Stanford University and Lindsay, 13, who attends school here.

"Dixie's condition is just about the same," said Bing's brother, Larry. "She is still in a coma."

Over 300 Made Homeless Today In St. Louis Fire

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—More than 300 negroes were made homeless today when flames, fanned by a high wind, swept through a square block at the suburban community of Fireworks Station. No one was injured.

Three tenement buildings and seven two-room frame residences were destroyed, Marshal Edward Habermehl of neighboring Alorton said. He estimated damage at $50,000.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in an overheated stove in one of the smaller buildings. It spread quickly.

Fire fighters and equipment were summoned from East St. Louis, Alorton, Midway and Maplewood. Firemen reported the fire leaped from one building to another as the strong wind whipped the blaze and scattered sparks and burning debris.

The fire did not die down until about 7 a. m., four hours after the first alarm.

Habermehl said the three tenements, one an abandoned theater building, housed more than 100 families.

No Entry Blanks Needed---

Come Young, Come Old Friday To Lions' Hallowe'en Party

There will be no entry blanks to be filled out to get into the Sedalia Lions Club annual Hallowe'en party for boys and girls, both young and old, Friday night. A big night of entertaining events is scheduled, according to Edgar Brown, general chairman.

Sam Highleyman, parade marshall, is requesting all ghosts, goblins, decorated bicycles, witches, skeletons, and what-have-you, to be at the Library at 6:45 p. m. to prepare for the parade.

Those in the parade will be judged and awards will be made to the winners at the auditorium of the Smith-Cotton High School.

The parade route starts at Third and Kentucky and goes east to Ohio. From Third the parade will go south on Ohio to Ninth; from Ohio east to the high school and in the west door into the auditorium.

Among the contests to be held on the stage, for which prizes are to be awarded, are: doughnut bob, snap clothes pin, milk bottle tie, pie eating. If time permits other contests will be staged.

It is the hope the young folks will attend this evening of entertainment and not tour the city doing destruction to property.

Cross Roads Comment

—by G.H.S.

Sedalia is experiencing the worst season of fire hazards in a generation, or more. Fire fighters have been run ragged by the incessant calls to put out grass fires. When they are making a run or battling blazes, citizens should keep out of their way. Parking of automobiles in alleys very definitely is a fire hazard, particularly now. Policemen are tagging these cars.

Burning leaves on asphalt pavement is ruinous and also violates a city ordinance. A big leaf fire on concrete or brick pavements certainly doesn't help them either. On the latter small piles for burning lessen possible danger. That method is good under any circumstance to keep leaf fire under control.

Reds Predict India to Reds Without War

NEW DELHI (AP) — Top Communists here confidently predict India is one country Stalin will win without armed revolution.

Red leaders arriving for the six-week Parliament session opening Nov. 5 laughed off evidence that Communist strength has nosedived since the string of upset Red election victories nine months ago.

They are working overtime to get party propaganda machinery ready for the session, refurbishing parliamentary headquarters on fashionable Windsor Place and the new national party office nearby.

The indian Communist Politburo recently switched national headquarters from the Southern state of Madras to the capital to make the most of the publicity spotlight in Parliament politics.

In addition to elaborate research facilities to keep Communist solons a step ahead with facts and figures, General Secretary Asoy Ghosh said party headquarters will now co-ordinate Parliament offensives with the lively, veracular language Communist press springing up throughout the country.

Since Parliament adjourned in August, surface signs have been increasingly pointing to a decline in Communist power in the shifting party lineups.

Some observers, however, question the importance of anti-Communist alignments in the face of the growing intensity of Communist propaganda drives.

The Communists bitterly attacked the recent merger of the Socialist party and the Praja, (People's party) into the new People's Socialist party. At the insistence of Socialist leaders, the new group ruled out any ties with the Communists.

The combined Praja - Socialist bloc in Parliament will now number 22. This will challenge Communist claims to leadership of the opposition. The new group may attract often independent party deputies to its banner.

Prisoner 'Confessions' Called Black Mark Against Commies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Air Force Finletter said today the extraction of "confessions" from Allied prisoners of war is one of the blackest marks against communism.

"All members of the American armed forces, and particularly those of the U. S. Air Force, feel an intense revulsion against Chinese Communist methods of forcing false confessions from their victims to provide grist for the Communist propaganda mill," Finletter said in a statement.

"These barbaric methods of endeavoring to 'brain-wash' the minds of soldiers for propaganda purposes are among the blackest marks yet recorded against the Communist regimes."

Finletter commented in answer to queries about a charge by the Air Force Association in Air Force Magazine last week that the Communists tortured two U. S. fliers into making false confessions that they took part in germ warfare.

The fliers are Lt. John S. Quinn, 30, Altadena, Calif., and Lt. Kenneth L. Enoch, 27, Youngstown, Ohio. They have been listed as missing in action since their B26 bomber was lost on a night mission in North Korea last Jan. 13.

"There is no doubt in anyone's mind that the testimony of Lt. Enoch, for example, was forced on every single point," Finletter said.

The Communists have circulated photographs of a statement, apparently written by Enoch, saying in part:

"I am beginning to see very clearly just who is the peace-lover and who is the warmonger responsible for this inhuman war, and I am determined to struggle for peace against Wall Street capitalism, to clear my conscience of my past crimes."

The article about the fliers called attention to the striking similarity among the extracted "confessions," as publicized in the Russian radio and press—and to repeated use of Communist stock phrases.

It frankly presented no new evidence that the confessions had been forced.

First Nominee Of Year Not On Home State Ballot

SEATTLE (AP)—The nation's first 1952 nominee for president isn't even getting on the ballot in his home state.

The "candidate nobody knows" is Frederick C. Proehl, an unassuming Seattle neighborhood grocer and presidential nominee of the Greenback party. He hasn't even asked for a vote.

Like two better known candidates for the presidency, the former Minnesotan did not seek the nomination. He was tending quietly to his groceries when it was thrust upon him last November.

"It was all a surprise to me," he observed from behind his counter. "National headquarters just wrote me I had been chosen by referendum."

He didn't get on the ballot in Washington State because the Greenback party did not hold any convention.

Proehl said he figures he was nominated because of the speeches he used to make in Minnesota, where he was a deputy bank examiner. Most of his speaking is over the grocery counter now. He has been interviewed once on a national network program and he will appear tomorrow night on a small town radio outside Seattle. That's all, and both by invitation.

When he talks Greenback party doctrine, it portrays bankers as the villains in the national act. They would issue currency instead, which could be retired as bonds are now—but without interest payments.

Democrats Fire Worker Who Got Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official of the Democratic National Committee has been fired for allegedly helping negotiate a nine-million-dollar government contract while working for the committee.

Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell identified him last night as Col. Lawrence Westbrook, a research and development engineer who since Jan. 5 has served as liaison man between the committee and members of Congress.

Westbrook has been helping House Speaker Sam Rayburn in the Democratic presidential campaign in Texas. He said by telephone from Dallas there was "nothing wrong" with the contract or his negotiations.

In New York, the Herald Tribune called it "the biggest 5 percenter deal ever exposed in Washington." It said Westbrook and two other men stood to share a $450,000 commission.

Jess Larson, who signed the contract for the government in his capacity as head of the Defense Materials Procurement Agency, said today Westbrook signed the nine-million-dollar deal for tungsten between a Portugese company and his agency.

The contract, in effect since Sept. 11, was canceled by the government Monday for the announced reason that the company had violated terms by going into the open market for tungsten to sell the U. S. instead of keeping its pledge to supply the metal from mines it claimed to control.

Larson said if the contract had not been canceled already on these grounds "we may have canceled the contract anyway had we known" of Westbrook's relationship with the deal.

Mitchell said Westbrook explained he had opened negotiations before he was employed by the committee and thought terms of the government contract had been settled before he began his new work.

But Westbrook was dismissed, Mitchell said, because "I do not think any exception can be made to the policy that an employe of the committee must not engage in business with the government."

Larson said early today negotiations started July, 1951, and the company (Companhia Atlantica) claims the fee arrangements were disclosed in the contract. Larson said he did not remember that they were.

The Herald Tribune in a copyrighted story said two other men were involved besides Westbrook: Heinz Pulverman of Rye, N. Y., described only as Westbrook's associate, and Thurman Hill, an unsuccessful candidate for U. S. senator from Kansas in 1944 and formerly chief counsel of U. S. Treasury procurement. Hill now lives in Washington.

The Tribune went on, saying:

Westbrook and Pulverman had an agreement in writing with Atlantica to receive 5 per cent commission for their help in getting the government contract.

Westbrook said he and Pulverman were to split the 5 per cent, but they were to pay 10 per cent of their total to Hill, who attested the contract. This would have given Hill $45,000, and Westbrook and Pulverman and equal share of the remaining $405,000.

Hill said Westbrook and Pulverman, by participating in the deal, did not violate the recently enacted law which bars payment of percentage fees to anyone except bona fide employes or agents of a company. Hill said they came under that category and were exempted from the prohibtion.

Courtroom's Daylight Time Causes Mixup

NORTH SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Daylight time expired Sept. 28—except in the local municipal courtroom. That led to a little confusion.

At 11 a.m. (standard time) yesterday, the judge ordered a brief recess.

A woman juror glanced at the clock, which registered 12 noon (daylight time), assumed the break was for lunch, and walked off.

The judge had to await her return, an hour later.

No one had put the courtroom clock back on standard time.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood---

Tallulah Back To Face The Camera After 7 Years Away

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Tallulah's back in town!

Tallulah who? Bankhead, you dope. The Alabama Tornado is again facing the film cameras after seven years in other pursuits. This time she's emoting for "Main Street to Broadway," the co-operative venture to benefit the legit theatuh.

Since Taloo is the reporter's delight in producing quotes, I dropped in to see her at work. But alas, she was too wrapped up in enacting a double fantasy. In the first sequence, she played a wicked woman who poisoned six people, including herself. In the second, she was a demure housewife (this required real acting for Taloo).

All this labor consumed her time and she was not able to chit-chat. However, she had presented me with a copy of her new autobiography, inscribed "with love" (a standard inscription, I'm sure). So instead of querying her, I got my answers from her book.

I was interested in her previous adventures in Hollywood. I came across her confession about her film career in the early '30s:

"I was no great shakes. I was victimized by the mechanics of the whole business. In Hollywood you do nothing for yourself. You don't even apply your own make-up. You are awakened, taken to the studio, made up. I was a set-up for that formula. You play your roles in snips and driblets, harassed by delays, interruptions and stupidities."

She wrote of her invitation to a "strictly informal" dinner given by Joan Crawford. Taloo arrived in slacks to find la Crawford decked out as if she were attending the Metropolitan Opera.

Miss Crawford promised her a "surprise dinner companion." He was Jackie Cooper.

Some time later, Walter Wanger arranged a blind date for Tallulah. Her escort turned out to be Gary Cooper, the "strong silent type."

"Silent is right," she adds. "Gary never opened his trap throughout the evening."

The next day a columnist reported the pair engaged. This prompted Reuters to cable from England: "Confirm engagement to Gary Cooper." Tallulah cabled back: "You have it all wrong. Am engaged to Jackie Cooper."

She says that one London daily headlined: "Tallulah engaged to John Cooper." The paper even dragged out a morgue photo of a John Cooper, a retired golf pro.

Her engagement to Ronald Colman, a man she had not yet met, was later reported.

Her first movie career was something of a fiasco. But she returned 12 years later and won the New York Critics Award for her performance in "Lifeboat."

"At last I had licked the screen, a screen which had six times betrayed me," she writes. "Did I get an Academy Oscar? No! The people who vote in that free-for-all know on which side their crepes suzette are buttered. I wasn't under contract to any of the major studios, hence was thought an outlaw."

Come to think of it, it's much easier on the nerves interviewing Taloo via book than in the flesh. As Howard Dietz once remarked, "A day away from Tallulah is like a week in the country."

"Ever since he's enjoyed the reputation of a great wit," Taloo says scornfully.

Pravda Calls Dulles 'Cannibal,' 'Atomite'

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda today called the U. S. Republican party's foreign affairs expert, John Foster Dulles a "cannibal," "a trader in death" and "an atomite."

The leading Soviet paper ranted against Dulles because of a statement he reportedly made to the St. Louis Post Dispatch in which he said that if he had a choice, he would rather die under an atom bomb than as a result of incendiary bomb action.

Both Nominees' Health a Model For the Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The two presidential candidates," a national health magazine reported today, "are good models to follow for keeping fit."

This nonpartisan view on the health habits of Republican Dwight Eisenhower and Democrat Adlai Stevenson came from Dr. Howard J. Hoxie and Dr. J. Dewitt Fox, writing in the magazine Life and Health.

The doctors said that both Stevenson and Eisenhower, who have been campaigning at a killing pace in the past two months, "give far closer attention to health habits and well-balanced living than the average person."

Here's how they appraised the health habits of the two men:

Eisenhower:

Up at 7:30 or 7; to bed by 10. ..."Follows as strict a schedule with his meals, rest and exercise as the demands of a political campaign will permit." ..."Watches his diet carefully." ..."Hasn't smoked for three years, since his doctor ordered him to quit As a result, his heart and blood pressure have remained normal."

Stevenson:

Up before 7, to bed in time for "a good eight hours' sleep." ... "Tries to get as much real rest as possible during the day and while traveling." ..."Has to keep in mind his slight tendency to overweight when he scans the menu." ..."His favorite food: low-in-calories, red, ripe tomatoes"

Italian Immigrants Demand Jobs In Riot On Australian Streets

SYDNEY, Australia, (AP) — More than 200 unemployed Italian immigrants today battled police who tried to break up a demonstration for immediate employment or repatriation to Italy.

The heavily outnumbered police, swinging batons and handcuffs, prevented the Italians armed with iron bars and timbers from storming the Italian consulate. Within 10 minutes of the clash, 100 police reinforcements restored order.

Several policemen were badly bashed. One Italian was hospitalized, and a number of others were less seriously injured.

Maryland U. Student Faces Bribe Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—A University of Maryland junior, accused of trying to bribe a Maryland football star, has surrendered and faces a fugitive hearing in Washington today.

District of Columbia police named him as Louis Leonard Glickfield, 2,1 of Hyattsville, Md. They said he gave himself up at Central headquarters last night and, after posting $1,000 bond, left with Washington Atty. Charles E. Ford.

A Prince Georges County, Md., warrant charges Glickfield with attempting to bribe Tom Cosgrove of Philadelphia, senior and first-string offensive center on Marylands' football team. Glickfeld was arrested in Washington as a fugitive from that charge. Atty. Ford made it clear he will fight extradition.

University officials at College Park, Md., a suburb of Washington, said three bribe offers were made to hold down the score against Louisiana State University in last Saturday's game. They said the other players who told of being approached—not mentioned in the warrant—were quarterback Jack Scarbath of Baltimore, a top contender for All-America honors, and Frank Navarro of White Plains, N.Y., senior first-string offensive guard.

According to signed statements by the three players, the student approached them individually and offered them a total of $1,500 to win by less than 21 points. This method — controlling the point spread—was a feature of the recent basketball fix scandals.

Maryland beat Louisiana State 34-6, a spread of 28 points.

Cosgrove, at center, starts each play in Maryland's split-T offense. he said he was offered $1,000. Navarro said he was offered $400, Scarbath $100.

Maryland President H. C. Byrd said Coach Jim Tatum notified him last Friday, the day before the game, that the three players had reported being offered bribes.

Dr Byrd said he wanted to announce it immediately, but was dissuaded by police who hoped to catch the alleged offender in the act "and perhaps find out if any gambling ring was behind him."

"At any rate," Dr. Byrd said, "this should emphasize to gamblers they had better leave college football players alone."

Tatum said that, before playing Louisiana State, all his players dressed for the game were asked to sign affidavits stating whether or not they had been approached with any bribe offers. All signed that they had not been, except Scarbath, Cosgrove and Navarro.

HST Charges Ike In 'Cold Blooded Deal'

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN IN MICHIGAN (AP)—President Truman said today that Dwight D. Eisenhower, in a "casual pledge over a cup of coffee," made a "cold-blooded deal" that could make a difference "between peace and a third world war."

That, he said, was when he "gave up the right to use his best judgment" on defense needs at a breakfast in Morningside Heights in New York with GOP Senator Robert A. Taft.

Truman hurled this charge at Lansing, Mich., after an earlier talk at Grand Rapids, where he declared he was convinced the election of Eisenhower would be "most dangerous to all our hopes for peace'."

When Eisenhower says he is a "no - deal man," the President said, he "must think the American people have short memories and that they are easily fooled." In the conference with Taft, Truman continued, Taft "exacted a promise that the budget would be cut to about 70 billion dollars in fiscal year 1954 and 60 billion in fiscal year 1955.

"That casual pledge, over a cup of coffee—to cut 20 billion dollars from our expenditures, could mean the difference between peace and a third world war," the President said.

"Most of that reduction would have to come from national defense and mutual security, and nobody knows that better than the Republican candidate."

At Lansing Police Inspector George Warner estimated the crowd at 5,000 people. At Grand Rapids, home town of the late GOP Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Truman told a trainside crowd of 5,000 that while Eisenhower tried to wrap himself in the "mantle" of Vandenberg in Michigan, he was "surely a Dirksen-Taft-McCormick Republican in Illinois."

There were some boos there as the train pulled in and some chants of "We want Ike," but larger groups sang out "We want Stevenson" and two Eisenhower signs and one Nixon sign were lost in a sea of Democratic placards. Truman scoffed at Eisenhower for calling himself a Vandenberg Republican.

Kiwanis Club Observes U. S. Newspaper Week

The Sedalia Kiwanis Club devoted its program to observance of National Newspaper Week at its meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday when Carl McIntire, news editor of the Sedalia Democrat, was the speaker. He was introduced by A. J. Morgan, program chairman.

"Newspapers and Service clubs, like Kiwanis, each have two goals," the speaker said. "For the paper, the goal is complete accurate news coverage, and community service; for the service club; fellowship and community service. With each having one goal in common, we should work together as we have in the past, but the work should be enlarged and magnified.

"For the most part we have given attention to the obvious things—the Community Chest, Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts, Chamber of Commerce activities, 4-H club and farmers; underprivileged child aid and Little League. All are worth while.

"Some of the less obvious programs might go a long way toward solving some our community ills such as petty crimes, health and dirty neighborhoods. They cover a multitude of community ailments. Any of these would make worthwhile projects for a club in cooperation with the newspaper."

Mr. McIntire enlarged upon his theme in offering cooperation of the newspaper with Kiwanis and all service clubs to the end that Sedalia would profit by their joint attention to community service projects.

Fires In The City

The 95th fire for the month of October was at 11:42 a. m. Thursday to 217 East Seventh where dry grass had caught fire. No damage resulted.

Police Reports

Short change artists were reported trying to work their "racket" on several East Sedalia merchants. The description of the two men and a woman who awaitthem in an automobile was given police. They departed the area before police arrived.

Mrs. Wayne Rucker, 1905 South Grand, reported the theft of a new screen door and screen, taken some time during the past few days.

Four Sedalia business establishments were broken into sometime during the early morning hours Thursday, but thieves evidently didn't take anything, or at least anything of great value.

Police found the Grapette Bottling Co., 500 West Second open at 4:30 a. m.; five minutes later they checked the K. C. Salvage, across the street, and found a glass in the front door smashed and a glass in a window broken; George and Leo's Tavern, Main and Kentucky, was broken into and entrance gained by breaking a glass on the south side of the front door; the Adams Implement Co., Main and Moniteau, was broken into by thieves who were scared away.

At the Adams Implement Co., the thief was evidently in the place when employees went to work, as they heard a back door slam as they went in the front door.

Police Court

Louis Heisterberg, 422 East 13th, forfeited a $2 cash bond on a charge of parking in an alley.

Max Birdsong, Beaman, forfeited a $5 bond for making a left turn at Third and Ohio.

Five overtime parkers failed to appear in court and their cash bonds of $1 each were ordered forfeited.

Robert D. Morris, 317 North Prospect, was fined $25 and given a 10 day jail sentence on a charge of being intoxicated and destruction of property at the Welcome Inn, Third and Engineer, Wednesday night. Morris pleaded not guilty to the charge. He was given a stay on the jail sentence providing he remained away from the place.

In Other Courts

Charles Edward Linsey, Sedalia, was charged in magistrate court at Warrensburg on Wednesday with careless and reckless driving as a result of an automobile accident on highway 50 a half-mile east of the highway 13 junction Monday afternoon.

Linsey and two passengers, Billie Eugene Loughridge and David Lee Klein, also of Sedalia, were injured when the 1937 Dodge sedan, driven by Linsey, plunged off an embankment on a curve. None was seriously injured.

Ragene W. Washburn of Windsor was fined $10 and costs in magistrate court at Warrensburg on Wednesday morning on a charge of careless and reckless driving on highway 50. State Trooper Peter Stohr of Sedalia arrested Washburn that morning on a charge of passing a car on a yellow line.

Poplar Bluff Dark From Smoke Without A Cloud In the Sky

New fires crackled out of control and a huge smoke pall blotted out the sun in some areas of southeast Missouri today amid ominous warnings of critical fire conditions in the state.

Byran Groesbeck, supervisor of the Clark National Forest, said at Rolla a highly dangerous situation was building up with 30 to 35 mile an hour winds predicted in the threatened area, already parched by a prolonged drouth.

"We're armed to the teeth but we're sitting on a powder keg," Groesbeck said.

Paul Kihlmire, U. S. forest ranger stationed at Poplar Bluff, put it even stronger, saying "the situation is ripe for a disaster."

Two large fires which broke out last night ranged out of control near Sullivan and Potosi, Mo.

Grass and timber fires ringed the Joplin area and Mayor H'Chris Otman called for volunteers. He also said he would ask Gov. Forrest Smith to call out the National Guard. Firemen from Galena, Webb City and Carterville are working with the Joplin department in an effort to halt the fires. This morning the department at Joplin had 15 calls and was unable to answer all of them.

Lee Fine, Meramec fire protection district ranger, said the fires were burning over a total of 600 acres along Indian Creek about 14 miles east of Sullivan and about five miles east of Potosi.

Several farms were in the path of the flames. With 20 and 25 mile an hour winds whipping the blazes through timber and grass lands, 17 state forestry service employes and an undetermined number of volunteers are battling the two fires.

Forestry officials in the Poplar Bluff area said new fires were developing today in Madison, St. Francois and Jefferson Counties. Groesbeck had reports of a "big fire north of Fredericktown outside our area."

Reports on the extent of the devastating fires of the past five days varied greatly.

State Forester George O. White estimated the fire-blackened area at around 30,000 acres.

But the Poplar Bluff Daily American Republic estimated that some 750,000 acres have been burned over, with one fire alone sweeping 100,000 acres in the Beaver Dam district extending from 12 to 20 miles west of Poplar Bluff. This fire now has been brought under control.

At Poplar Bluff, the smoke pall blotted out the sun at 9 a. m. although there wasn't a cloud in the sky. The haze cleared somewhat later in the morning.

Both state and federal forestry officials reported the smoke pall was making it difficult for spotter planes and fire tower watchers to spot new blazes quickly.

An estimated 1,000 men, including farmers and other volunteers, were doing their best to check the damage. Kihlmire said the volunteers were taking orders from his professional fire fighters and "doing a wonderful job." Groesbeck reported about 400 volunteers had been organized into crews under federal supervision.

The 800-member Southeast Missouri Sportsman's Association decided last night to strongly urge on Gov. Forrest Smith a postponement of all hunting and fishing in the area until the emergency passes. Dr. Z. Lee Stokely, chairman of the association, expected to see the governor today.

Large fires were brought under control yesterday in Butler, Carter, Bollinger and Reynolds counties at the expense of pulling firefighting crews out of other threatened sections.

In the Poplar Bluff area, firefighters found a number of deer that had burned to death. Jim Featherston, conservation agent at Poplar Bluff, said the toll among small game would be high.

Six planes have been pressed into service for fire reconnaissance.

White estimated that the actual loss of marketable timber —white oak, walnut and cedar for the most part—probably has reached $150,000.

But that doesn't include the houses, outbuildings, crops and fuel that have been consumed. Nor does it cover young growth timber destroyed.

At Liberty, Mo., Mayor L. D. Williams called the city council into a special session to have the entire city declared a fire zone. This would prohibit the burning of leaves or trash in any part of the city.

Three Square Miles Of Timber Land Burns

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)— A farmland and timber fire covering three square miles was still out of control late last night five miles south of here.

By midnight the roaring flames had consumed more than 500 acres.

Firefighters had started back - firing fields and brush in an effort to save about 15 houses. Some 400 men, many from St. Joseph, were on the line.

Flames were visible from Rosecrans Air Field seven miles away and a thick pall of smoke hung over the area.

Ike Denies Easy Route To End War

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a huge throng in the heart of New York's garment district today "nobody has ever heard me say there is an easy way out of the Korean War."

In a voice of indignation, he defended himself against Democratic charges that he claims to have a quick formula for ending the war and that he made a "grandstand play" in proposing to go to Korea.

A giant, noon hour crowd massed on Seventh Avenue for six blocks, from 35th to 41st Streets.

Police Inspector Louis Goldberg said the crowd was "the same as for Stevenson." Estimates for that audience were as high as 250,000.

Before a campaign audience earlier in Stuyvesant town, Eisenhower mentioned the latest report of "five percenters" in Washington and said "they had to fire him because someone else caught up with him."

"But the point is," he added, "that this sort of crookedness goes on and on in Washington."

Eisenhower was referring to the discharge by the Democratic national committee of Col. Lawrence Westbrook, a research and development engineer who allegedly helped negotiate a nine million dollar government contract while acting as liaison man btween the Democratic National Committee and members of Congress. Westbrook's dismissal was announced last night by Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman.

At the same rally he also referred to the letter he disclosed last night from Gen. James Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army in Korea. He asked:

"Why shouldn't our boys be taken out of the frontlines if the South Koreans can take over, as Gen. Van Fleet says they can?

"They say I'm talking politics when I talk about that. Well, all right, if that's politics, then I'm talking politics."

"The opposition fears very badly" his emphasis on going to Korea, Eisenhower said, adding:

"They say you can do nothing about Korea — just let it drag on and see what happens. Yes, see the casualties mount and mount higher."

In a television-radio appearance last night the general said the report from Van Fleet—a West Point classmate of Eisenhower's—tied in with his own reason for wanting to go there if elected. He said:

"I want to study on the spot the conditions we will find there. ... One of the things I want to find out is how much the Republic of Korea can contribute to its own battle requirements."

Van Fleet's letter praised the fighting qualities of the South Koreans. He said one division, the ninth, had destroyed four regiments of the 38th Chinese Army, "one of the best." The Eighth Army commander added, "I am confident they will continue to hold and destroy the remaining reserve of that army."

Gamblers Still Take Ike; Odds Are Lower

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago gamblers willing to bet on the outcome of the presidential campaign still favor Eisenhower, but at odds lower than a week ago, it was reported today.

The Chicago Daily News said the latest odds quoted are 7 to 5 that Ike will win over Stevenson next Tuesday. That means a $7 bet on Eisenhower would win $5 if the general is elected.

A $10 bet on Stevenson would win $11 according to latest bookmakers' odds.

Opium Raids In Singapore Close 'Dens'

SINGAPORE (AP) — Relentless police raids on illegal opium dens in this British colony have forced addicts to come into the open and appeal for government distribution of the drug.

Truckloads of police swoop several times a night on some of the estimated 2,000 dens in Chinatown and along the waterfront and riverside districts.

Since the campaign began last July, more than 550 persons have been charged before the courts and 333 have been jailed for smoking, running dens and trafficking in the drug. Smokers get sentences of two weeks imprisonment, the denkeepers and smugglers six months.

The addicts, under the name of the "Opium Smokers Association," appealed to Gov. John F. Nicoll to reintroduce legal opium distribution in the name of "humanity and mercy." The petition added: "The millions that opium brought to the government's coffers before the war now seeps underground into the pockets of smugglers."

A legislative councillor, Dr. C. J. Paglar, asked the government to consider registering the estimated 80,000 addicts here and rationing the drug to them on a diminishing scale.

There is not much likelihood the Singapore government will consider seriously either suggestion. The colonial secretary, W. L. Blythe, made this statement:

"We are sure depriving addicts of opium is the only certain cure I cannot agree at this stage that the government should open the opium trade and introduce rationing."

Before World War II, the Malaya and Borneo governments grossed profits equal to 6½ million dollars annually from opium.

Most of Singapore's opium dens are hovels in which weary Chinese coolies relax with the pipe after the day's labor. Others are luxurious apartments staffed by pretty Chinese hostesses.

Before the war opium cost $4.30 for 1¼ ounces. Now it costs $23 for the same amount. A smoker pays 35 cents for enough to fill a pipe.

Sterling Hayden Comes Back After Admitting He Was Red

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What happens to an actor's career after he confesses he had been a Communist?

Some actors have fallen to obscurity, others have managed to continue their careers. One of the latter is Sterling Hayden, the tall, rugged ex-seaman who testified last year in Washington that he had been a member of the Communist party for six months in 1946.

Hayden has always been free to speak his mind, so I directed some pointed questions at him:

How did the Washington headlines affect his career immediately afterward?

"If anything, I was in a better position than I was before," he replied. "Before I had testified, there was a cloud over my name, a sort of uncertainty about whether I was 'safe' or not. Producers were naturally afraid to cast me. Afterward, everything was out in the open.

"As to the immediate reaction, I don't know. Nobody wanted to hire me, because they didn't know how public opinion would turn. I never heard of any producers who said they would not hire me. There may have been some, but my agent didn't tell me of any."

How did the situation break?

"I went to Y. Frank Freeman (head of Paramount, where he had previously been under contract) and told him I needed a job. After I left, he called the talent department and then called me. He said the only part he could offer me was as a heavy in an adventure picture. He said it would be less money than I had been getting, but if I wanted the job, I could have it. I took it."

Since then he has worked almost steadily. He has made eight pictures in a row, including "The Star" with Bette Davis and his current "lame of Timberlane" with Ann Sheridan.

What was the personal reaction to his confession of Red membership?

With two exceptions, I have had no adverse comment made to me personally. The two exceptions were a couple of guys I knew in San Pedro and whom I suspect as still being Commies.

"I have had no adverse reaction on the tours I have made all over the country for Compo (the film industry's public relations campaign). As a matter of fact, I found that people generally were unaware of the issue of communism in Hollywood.

"Once it came up during a forum some of us were attending at a drama festival in Rochester, N.Y. Someone asked about communism in Hollywood and we had previously agreed that I would answer such a question if it came up. I talked for 10 or 15 minutes on the subject and got a nice hand when I sat down."

Odds and Ends By News Staff

It was Sunday and they were taking a little trip. The car was going along making its way out of town and had just passed the city limits when grandmother exclaimed: "Oh, my, I forgot my teeth."

"We'll go back and get them", said the granddaughter.

"Oh, no", said grandmother.

"Why, sure", insisted the girl, "You'll need your teeth."

"No, no," said grandmother. "We mustn't go back — that's bad luck" and so, because grandmother thought it was bad luck to go back home for anything after starting she continued on the trip without her teeth.

And that reminds us of another story. Two women started to some affair, one going by for the other, and they hadn't gotten very far until one discovered she had forgotten her teeth and when she spoke of it the other one found she had forgotten hers, too, so they turnd around, went back and got their teeth, then went merrily on to the party. — H. L.

Oct. 20 opened the duck season and a prominent doctor could hardly wait until the season opened to go duck hunting. He went out to his farm every day for several days but no ducks, and always he was disappointed.

One day a couple of fellows at the farm had an idea. They took a couple of his tame ducks, clipped their wngs, and took them down to the water. There is an old saying that you take to something or other like a duck takes to water — but these ducks didn't take to water. The men had a little trouble getting the ducks to stay in the water — but they managed and when the doctor came out to the farm that afternoon one of the men told him he saw a couple of ducks flying around and they might be down on the pond.

The doctor was jubilant. He put on his hunting togs, got his gun, took the fellow who told him about seeing the ducks and went down to the water.They crept along the bank, making as little noise as possible — yes, yes, they were there, the doctor could see them— he put up his gun and aimed — sure enough he hit one — but the other one tried to get away— the doctor shot again and hit. He was pleased as could be.

"They are sure fat ones", he said to his companion as he picked them up. "I never such such fat ducks."

The doctor took the ducks home delighted that he had at last been able to bag a couple, then his wife found a little note around the leg of one of them: "You shouldn't have shot me, I'm your own little duck".

Now the doctor wishes there was a season on shooting men — he knows a couple he would like to shoot. — H. L.

Nixon Declines Further Comment On His Record

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952. By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — Walter Winchell has just made public affidavits alleging that Harry S. Truman was a member of the Ku Klux Klan in 1922. Most significant thing about these affidavits is that they were obtained in October, 1944, when Harry S. Truman was running for Vice President.

However, they were not published by Winchell at that time. If so, the voters would have had an opportunity to pass on their validity when they could have influenced an election, not eight years later when the question of Truman's early background is purely academic.

Various editors have complained since 1944 that the press did not properly report on many other activities of the man then running for vice president, now the President. They argued that the job of vice president can be just as important as that of President, and that Veeps are usually unknown men, picked by a handful of party bosses during the hasty closing days of a convention.

In view of this, and in view of the fact that Senator Nixon was not only handpicked but relatively unknown either to Eisenhower or to the public, here are more little-known facts in the record of a man who could be president.

First, let it be said that Senator Nixon has been approached for comment on these facts, but has not made himself available. His press-relations officer has stated not only to this column but repeatedly to the press that Nixon will not answer further questions on his finances nor publish his tax returns He has refused to hold press conferences.

However, here are some further facts on which the public is entitled to clarification:

1. LOAN FROM WAR CONTRACTOR — During the closing days of the war, Nixon, an attorney in the Navy, was given the job of renegotiating the contract of ERCO, at Riverdale, Maryland. This was an assignment which could mean money saved for the taxpayers. The renegotiating officer sat as virtual judge and jury, empowered to decide on a rebate to the government or a rebate to the contractor.

While renegotiating the ERCO contract, Nixon let drop the fact that he wanted to go back to California to run for Congress and borrowed money from ERCO to pay his expenses home. Later he repaid the money. It may have been purely coincidental, but ERCO received a refund from the government on its war work.

ERCO officials confirm the above facts. Senator Nixon was not available for comment.

2. OFFICE EXPENSES — In making his radio report to the nation, Nixon stated that he had used his $18,000 expense fund to pay office and travel expenses, thus saving the taxpayers money.

Despite this, the Senator claimed $1,294.05 in deductible office expenses in 1951 beyond his $2,500 tax-free allowance. Part of this was a claim of $600 for taking constituents to lunch.

In 1950, he also claimed a deduction of $1,471 for office expenses, part of which was $260 for constituents' lunches.

Yet the Price, Waterhouse audit of his $18,000 expense fund for the same years listed "meetings and luncheons at California hotels, $410," also "meals, taxicab fares and parking charges paid for visitors, $382.52."

Obviously the Price, Waterhouse audit and the Senator's own expense deductions which were charged to the taxpayer conflict.

Veterans Record

3. TAX EXEMPTION — In March 1951 Mrs. Nixon filed on behalf of herself and husband a sworn statement in California that their joint property did not exceed $10,000. This was to enable them to take advantage of a California tax reduction whereby a veteran in reduced circumstances is given a tax exemption of about $50.

In July of that same year, Nixon purchased his $41,000 house in Washington, making a down payment of $20,000. Earlier that year he had acquired a smaller house in Whittier, Calif.

If he lacked $10,000 in March of 1951, where did he get the $20,000 in July? This is a question the public has a right to ask of any candidate for office.

4. VETERANS RECORD — The best way to judge a Senator's record is by his works on committees. Nixon belongs to the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, an important group because it handles the Taft - Hartley Act, labor legislation, health, education.

Out of 18 full committee meetings during the last session, however, Nixon attended only four.

He is also a member of the Subcommittee on Veterans Affairs, which investigated the Veterans' committee, the Veterans' Medical Medical Care Program, found it bogged down and inadequate. Thanks to painstaking work by this committee, the Veterans' Medical Care Program was completely reorganized and revitalized.

However, this was done with no thanks to Nixon. Though a member of the American Legion and publicly active at Veterans' rallies, he had the worst attendance record of any member of the subcommittee. When real work for Veterans was being done, Nixon wasn't around.

5. RECORD ON CIVIL RIGHTS — Nixon has been making many recent speeches on Civil Rights, has urged the end of segregation in the District of Columbia. Yet as a member of the Senate Labor Committee he was one of only three Senators who voted to keep the Civil-Rights Bill bottled up in committee.

In other words, he did not even want the Civil-Rights Bill to go to the Senate floor for free and open debate, but to remain gathering dust instead, inside the committee. Other Senators voted the Bill out over his head.

6. GAMBLING INTERVENTION — Nixon stated, in explaining his $18,000 expense fund, that he had asked no government favors for those contributing to it. However, he wrote a letter to the American Ambassador in Cuba asking aid for Dana Smith, the man who collected the $18,000 and who had reneged on a gambling debt in Cuba.

Smith was playing the gaming tables at the Club Sans Souci in Havana, lost $4,200 and paid with a check, then stopped payment on the check. Norman Rothman, to whom the check was made out, then sued.

Nixon meanwhile wrote a letter to the American Ambassador recommending Smith as a man of good character and interceding for him regarding a matter that no U. S. Ambassador should have to concern himself with.

Forest Fires In Big Areas Through South

By The Associated Press

Thousands of fire fighters today carried on their battle against forest flames roaring over vast areas in Southern states.

Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and North Carolina appeared to be hit the hardest. Fires were widespread also in Alabama, Georgia and Kentucky and some were reported in Texas, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

W. R. Hine, assistant regional forester in Tennessee, said, "It would take a hundred years to replace timber that has been burned in the past week" in that state.

In the Northern section of the Cumberland Plateau alone fires had swept over about 100,800 acres in six counties.

In Mississippi, 1,723 separate fires have burned over 62,000 acres since Oct. 1. Last night 191 fires still raged.

Scores of fires raged in about 15,000 acres of Louisiana pine and hardwood forests.

In Arkansas, 38 fires were reported last night in the Southern part of the state and 10 in the Northern portion.

Alabama reported 10 fires still burning last night out of 100 that broke out in the last two days.

Ninety-six fires were reported in Georgia but all were believd under control except one in Paulding and Cobb Counties.

Kentucky had 165 fires burning last night on 14,964 acres. About 100,000 acres of timberland have been burned in the state

Eating Out, Buying A Suit Solves All Home Troubles

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—"Want more salad, dear?" She asked.

"No thanks," he said.

"How do you like my new dress?"

"Fine."

"Fine."

"Sure, fine. Wonderful."

Pause.

"What happened at the office today?" she asked.

"Nothing much. Usual routine."

"Now tell me frankly. Why don't you like the dress?"

"But I said I liked it."

"You said fine."

"Well?"

"Fine isn't your word. It's like grand. It's perfunctory. Swell, terrific, snazzy, maybe. But not fine."

"Okay, it's snazzy. It is, you know."

Pause.

"I suppose you think I'm silly," She said. "But I always say I like your new suits."

"It's been a year and a half since I had a new suit."

"Why do you say that?"

"Oh, let's cut this nonsense. I just said it, that's all."

"You're trying to make me feel guilty."

"Now, look, I'm not trying to make you feel anything. I'm just trying to eat."

"Eat, sleep, office, eat, sleep," she said in a rising voice. "that's all I hear. I'm just - - - -"

"Now you sound like someone in a bad soap opera."

"I don't care how I sound. So it's trite. Well, I feel trite. I'm locked up in this house all day while you're at the office doing heaven knows what- - - "

"What do you mean, 'heaven knows what?' I work at the office. You make it sound like something else— like wild parties."

"All day, cleaning in this house. Do you know how frustrating it is to clean a house? You dust the blinds. Next day they need dusting again. Oh, it's so rewarding. It's all so incredibly dull while you, youhave lun ch - - -"

Don't you have lunch?"

"Sure, I have lunch. I have lunch alone orI have lunch with a neighbor and we talk about about a new cake mix or the diaper service and isn't it scintillating? While you're having lunch out, different places, different people."

They were both screaming now.

"What is it you women want anyway?" he asked.

"We want nothing special. Just to be happy. Well, to feel fulfilled. Just to be a part of the world. Aand you, you begrudge me a new dress."

"I didn't begrudge you anything. You women are all alike. Before you're married, you talk about nothing but making a home and having children. And then you get married and you act like your husband put you in jail."

"Let me tell you that- - "

"No, let me tell you. You women make your own jails and pretty soon you make your husband feel "well, bust out. Go on, bust out."

She ran up to her room, crying, and he ran out to the nearest bar. But she didn't go home to mother and he didn't say away.

Instead, they had lunch together in town the very next day, which he thought was snazzy, and he bought a new suit, which she thought was terrific, and they didn't have another fight that whole month.

The World Today---

Next Chief at Congress' Mercy

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower or Gov. Stevenson will be at the mercy of the next Congress. Fulfillment of their campaign promises depends in large measure on the kind of Congress elected.

But, as usual every four years, main interest is in the presidential and vice presidential races. Candidates for Senate and House of representatives get attention but are overshadowed by the big show.

The Congress that takes over in 1953 can suit itself about voting money or passing laws for the programs the new President recommends, no matter what he has promised in the campaign.

If the new President wins in a landslide, he'll probably carry with him a good working majority of his own party in both houses.

More likely, if the election is close, he'll find himself dealing with a Congress where the margin of difference between the two parties is narrow.

Unless there is a landslide which would upset all predictions, the Democrats are expected to keep majority control of the Senate, even if Eisenhower wins the presidency.

Truman had a continuing problem in working with a Congress where his own Democrats held control by a narrow majority. If some of his own party turned their backs on his proposal in the Senate, for instance, he was sunk unless some Republicans switched over.

Stevenson would have the same problem with a slim congressional majority of Democrats. So would Eisenhower if the Republicans took over both houses by only a narrow margin.

Sparkman Moving Into Colorado To Lash Republicans

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—Sen. John J. Sparkman, Democratic vice presidential candidate, is due in Colorado today after calling Republicans the "party of the vested interests" in a rally address here.

He said that under the Democratic administration of the past 20 years, "the people of America have been able to use the powers of their government to promote their own welfare, better the nation as a whole and prepare for a prosperous future."

He contended that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate, in a Western trip "spent his time denouncing this use of the people's government."

"The real trouble, I suggest," he said, "is that ... the governments ... has been so directly responsive to what the people ... want that the controlling forces behind the Republican party have grown desperate."

Murder she yelled

THE STORY: Rocky Silone, a small-time racketeer, was unthinking enough to get himself bumped off at High Hill, a vacation resort, and the proprietor, Al Kemmer, tries to protect his place's good name by moving it to a rival summer lodge. Another complication is that Al's girl friend, Kitty Lane, is intensely jealous of Midge Burnett, a guest.

• • •

X

WHILE Al Kemmer went to talk to Kitty Lane, I captured Midge. She didn't seem overanxious to dance with me and even after I told her Ritchie just wasn't her type, I hadn't softened up anything in her face. She said she had the next dance with Ritchie after we made a few half-hearted turns and the record spun to its end.

I didn't stay to watch her cross over to Ritchie. I went out on the cool, dark porch. I walked past the row of huddled nature-lovers.

Twenty yards away across the grass, the office window showed an oblong of light. Al was having himself a session with Kitty. I stepped off the porch. It didn't make sense for me to go over there. But there was a hard, vicious feeling in me—I wanted to see another man taking a lacing. From a woman, particularly.

Before I could hear what he was saying, another man's voice broke in. "Suppose you were in my position. . . ."

I pushed through the partly open door—no inhibitions around High Hill. Seated beside the desk, his back to me, was Dave Fields. He swung me a look. His forehead was ruffled, a washboard.

Dave held out his hands, palms up, taking me into the gesture. "You people are his friends. Maybe he'd listen to you a lot sooner than to somebody in his own family."

"I'm sorry," Al said. "I got my own worries, without getting mixed up with the Fields family."

"Just a word to him, just a reminder once in a while, that's all I'm asking you," Dave said quietly. "You see him all the time. If you can just get him to write a few letters, put in a $5 bill once in a while—"

"You mean $5 makes all that difference?"

Dave's hands opened out again, gracefully. "It's not the money, Mr. Kemmer. It's simply that it'll make my mother feel he's part of us, he's taking his responsibilities like a son, he's not a stray dog."

"Okay, it's a good idea, but I can't get mixed up in it."

• • •

A WAVE of stiffness went up Dave's back and shoulders. "You don't care how a mother feels?"

"Sure, sure, I care how a mother feels," Al said, making his eyes big and taut to keep from losing his temper. "Believe me, I wish all the mothers in America should feel fine. Without mothers, you couldn't have no Mother's Day. But leave me out of it. You should only know what I got on my mind already, without your family."

Dave's face pushed forward determinedly. "You know how many years I've been coming out here, Mr. Kemmer?"

"I'm very busy—talk to me tomorrow." Al's eyes closed, he waved Dave away.

"Thank you," Dave said stiffly. "I appreciate your co-operation." He marched through the doorway.

"Don't mention it," Al said to his retreating back.

He scarcely waited till Dave had cleared the mail room. "Crazy!" he bursts out. "You ever see such a family? A bunch of lunatics."

He soothed himself with a fresh round of chewing gum. "I hire Eddie Fields—I think I'm just hiring a comic. But no—I get his wife for the same price—and all her advice about how I should run my business. Then I get his brother, and his troubles."

"You talked to Kitty yet?"

Al shook his head. "The crazy schmo was laying for me. I thought it's Kitty sitting in here, but it's this hard-luck Charley."

• • •

NEXT morning after breakfast, I went to the office. Al was lost in another subject. What it was startled me no end.

"That little Burnett—" he said, "she's an absolute dream."

His mouth drooped tenderly; his deep brown eyes were soft and liquid.

"You planning to marry her?" I growled.

His eyelids leaped. "No, no, don't be crazy." Then his eyes became reflective again. "But if I did get married, I'd more want it to be somebody like her than . . . I'll tell you, Morrison. I just discovered there's a difference between women."

"You're getting sophisticated."

"You don't understand what I'm talking about. What I mean is, they have a different effect on your nerves. This Burnett girl—I noticed when she was singing last night—she relaxes me. Like a phenobarbital. Now, Kitty—I didn't realize it before, but she actually makes me more nervous. She's a nice kid, but—"

"Kitty give you a hard time?" I inquired. He ripped open a stick of gum and put it in his mouth.

Al glanced up at me, then down at the gum wrapper he was crumpling. "Always headaches. . . . In a way, I don't blame Kitty. She's been with me a long time, and. . . . You know the way women are." He flipped the wrapper across the room and leaned back wearily in his swivel chair. "Morrison. I'd like to do something for Kitty—something nice. All these years she's worked for me. . . . Anyway, Kitty's young—only 37—she ought to get herself a nice fellow and take out a license."

Al was eyeing me weirdly. "I'd be willing to settle a nice piece of change on the right fellow," he said softly.

"That's swell. I'll look around for you. Sure . . . Say—I've got somebody for you. Leo Ritchie. Perfect."

"I said a nice fellow, not a jerk that can't pay his bills."

DISCHARGED — Pfc. Lewis H. Rush, son of Mrs. John M. Rush, 914 East Fifth, and the late Mr. Rush, received his honorable discharge from the United States Army on Oct. 16 at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz. He had been in service three and one half years. Pvt. Rush enlisted in the Army on April 27, 1949 and took his basic at Camp Chaffee, Ark., after which he was sent to Atlanta, Ga., to mechanical school for 12 weeks. He went from there to Camp Hood, Tex., and then to Anchorage, Alaska, for two years where he was with the Air Force as a mechanic. He returned to the states in April 1952 and was stationed at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., until he received his discharge.

Early Morn Feeding For Baby Saves Family

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A scheduled early morning feeding for their infant son probably saved the lives of a young couple and their two children in a fire which swept their St. Louis County home yesterday.

Mrs. Bernard C. Smith discovered the blaze when she returned to bed after feeding her 8-month-old son, Alfred.

Smith, a 24-year-old air force veteran, estimated the loss at $15,000. The home, on which Smith said he had placed his life savings for a down payment, was completely destroyed.

Political Front In Big States---

California Vote Very Likely Close; Adlai Gaining Favor

(Editor's Note—This is the fourth in a series of stories about the "Big Six" states — New York, Pennsylvania, California, Illinois, Ohio and Texas—which have more than one-third of all the electoral votes in the country.)

By MORRIS LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The right down to the finish with a vigor never before equaled in California.

Spurring both parties on, there's an element of doubt on how the state's six million voters will go. Nobody is taking the election for granted—not with 32 big electoral votes at stake. Second only to New York's 45, it may well be one of the pivotal blocs of the 266 needed for national victory.

The California outcome looks close. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, has been rated a slight edge by a state-wide newspaper poll and independent surveys.

Offsetting this somewhat, Democratic leaders declare—and some political writers agree—that there has been a late trend toward Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. Whether the shift is enough to overtake Eisenhower is now a question of intense speculation.

Republican strategists, aware of the 856,955 Democratic lead in voter registration, are depending on two of the state's best votegetters, Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Eisenhower's running mate, and popular Republican Gov. Earl Warren, to throw back any surge to Stevenson.

California has gone to the Democrats in every presidential election since 1932—but by dwindling majorities since 1936. President Roosevelt won by 476,000 votes in 1932, 930,000 in 1936, 526,000 in 1940, 476,000 in 1944. President Truman captured the state by a scant 17,865 in 1948.

Republicans say they are not alarmed by the voter registration showing 3,312,668 Democrats to 2,455,713 Republicans, nor by predictions for a turnout Tuesday as high as 90 per cent.

They feel the combination of Eisenhower's personal appeal and the desire for a change in Washington will crack the Democratic ranks. Warren, in gaining three terms as governor, has shown it can be done. So have others.

California editors established Eisenhower as the favorite to carry the state in a mid-October survey of The Associated Press. They agreed generally it's likely to be close. The editors in a September survey concluded the outcome was doubtful. Composite opinion of the second poll split the anticipated major party vote 52-48 per cent for Eisenhower.

Eisenhower campaigned through the state once and Stevenson twice. Both drew big and enthusiastic crowds.

Stevenson supporters were cheered by a Democratic registration gain of 50,000 since June and the prospect of a heavy vote. What they didn't mention was a 127,097 drop in their lead over the Republicans since 1948.

Republicans are not overlooking GOP Sen. William F. Knowland's re-election victory in the primaries —possible under the state's unique crossfiling law Knowland, a strong critic of President Truman, amassed over a million Republican votes and 966,000 Democratic to gain both nominations.

The Democrats long have had the bulge in registration. But Republicans hold all but one major state office, both seats in the U. S. Senate and 13 of the 23 in the House.

On election night, both sides will look foremost for returns from Los Angeles County, with 42 per cent of the state-wide registration.

A majority of editors from the area estimated in the AP's mid-October survey that Eisenhower would carry the county. There was disagreement, however.

Editors on two of the largest newspapers, both supporting Eisenhower, figured Stevenson would win in Los Angeles.

Tomorrow: Pennsylvania.

Expect Whale Of Game As MU vs Huskers

LINCOLN (AP) — Everybody around this neck of the woods is convinced that there is going to be a whale of a football frolic here Saturday before a full house in the Nebraska stadium. The outing brings Nebraska against Missouri. And somebody is going to be pressured into dropping a pace behind in the Big Seven parade.

The teams go into this tussle with Missouri leading the conference on a 2-0 record and Nebraska tied a half step behind with defending champ Oklahoma at two wins and a tie each. What Nebraskans picture after the Missouri game is a Nebraska - Oklahoma tie for the lead. Oklahoma plays Iowa State Saturday.

Yes, Nebraskans feel their Huskers can take Missouri's Tigers—but not without a real serap. There may not be too much evidence to justify the calm, deep feeling that Nebraska will win. But there is plenty to justify the feeling that you can safely gamble on seeing a good game.

Taking Missouri first, Nebraska observers concede freely that the Tigers can, if you aren't wide awake every minute, riddle you by air on the passes of Tony Scardina (he was quite a pest to Nebraska a year ago); can punch the line hard with such felows as Bill Rowekamp, Nick Carras and Jim Hook and have a defense that can be depressing indeed to an opponent.

Yet, they feel Johnny Bordogna can equal Scardino's passking skill, that fullbacks George Cifra and Ray Novak can pound with Missouri's best and the Husker defense can be depended upon to make the going gooey for any club.

Besides, they nurse a hope that Bob Reynolds, the rambler who ruined Missouri here two years ago, may be able to do a bit of running Saturday. He was injured against Kansas State, missed the next game, but, mending fast, got into the Colorado tie last week to kick two vital extra points.

Too, Nebraska is a hungry team this time out after one of those "don't mention it" seasons last year. However, it's conceeded that the Tigers fall in this category, having been right along with Nebraska in the "let's forget it" group last year even though they did hang up a win over Nebraska. All this is just another reason why a mighty match is looked for.

There are a goodly number of Nebraskans who dont' look for a high scoring game. If that is true, they depend upon the Husker defense centered around ends Dennis Emanuel and Bill Schabacker, tackles Ed Husmann and Jerry Minnick and linebacker Verl Scott and Carl Braee to track the Tiger down.

Claassen Picks 'Em---

Michigan State Over Purdue; Sees Huskers to Beat Tigers

NEW YORK (AP)—Last Saturday's many surprising winners among the college football teams merely reaffirmed that you spell "setups" and "upsets" with the same letters—it is just a matter of placement.

There were 41 correct selections among the 56 decisions, an average of .734. That dropped the season's figures to 193 correct, 55 incorrect for a mean of .778.

Here are this week end's selections:

Michigan State over Purdue: Michigan State is shooting for an unbeaten season, Purdue is shooting for the Rose Bowl trip.

Maryland over Boston University: Supposedly a grudge match. If so and Maryland lets down the bars, the score could be fantastic.

Oklahoma over Iowa State: The Sooners much too good.

Georgia Tech over Duke: A pair of unbeaten powers.

California over UCLA: Johnny Oszelewski and his mates can't be stopped on successive week ends.

Ohio State over Northwestern: John Borton to be the hero as the rebounding Ohioans break loose. This is the game you'll see on your TV screen.

Notre Dame over Navy: It will be close but the Irish appear to be the better balanced club.

Kansas over Kansas State: That Kansas backfield is as versatile as any in the entire country.

Texas over Southern Methodist: Just on general principles.

Villanova over Parris Island Marines: The nation's 10th-ranking club to retain its unbeaten status. It is a Friday night contest.

The others:

Friday Night

Boston College over Clemson, Miami over Kentucky.

Saturday

East: Princeton over Brown, Columbia over Cornell, Coast Guard over Trinity, Tufts over Amherst, Connecticut over New Hampshire, Yale over Dartmouth, Harvard over Davidson, Delaware over Muhlenberg, Fordham over Detroit, Bucknell over Lehigh, Colgate over Mississippi College, New York over Lafayette, Penn State over Penn, Temple over Rutgers, Williams over Union, Army over VMI.

Midwest: Drake over Denver, Marquette over Holy Cross, Michigan over Illinois, Minnesota over Iowa, Nebraska over Missouri, Tulsa over Oklahoma A and M, Wichita over Utah State, Pittsburgh over Indiana.

South: Florida over Auburn, Alabama over Georgia, George Washington over West Virginia, Mississippi over LSU, Tulane over Mississippi State, Wake Forest over North Carolina State, Tennessee over North Carolina, Virginia over South Carolina, Vanderbilt over Washington and Lee, Furman over Wofford, VPI over Richmond.

Southwest: Texas A and M over Arkansas, TCU over Baylor, Houston over Texas Tech, Wisconsin over Rice.

Far West: Colorado over Utah, Oregon over College of Pacific, Washington State over Idaho, Montana over Montana State, Stanford over San Jose, Washington over Oregon State, Brigham Young over Wyoming.

Bill Fenton, Iowa, Named Lineman of Week

IOWA CITY, Ia. (AP)—Dr. Ralph Fenton, who has watched Iowa's fluctuating football fortunes since early in the century, is the proudest father in Iowa City today.

The 71-year-old member of the University of Iowa dental college staff had good reason to be, too. His son, Bill, is the newest holder of the lineman of the week award made in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Bill, a rugged end, was chosen for his inspirational play in Iowa's 8-0 upset of Ohio State.

The honor came as a pleasant surprise to both father and son.

"It is a surprise and a great honor," said the son.

The father didn't say just that thought—and he was proud, mighty proud.

Dr. Fenton has been closely identified with Iowa athletics since he became a member of the athletic board in 1917. He retired from the board in 1950, the year son Bill became an Iowa regular as a freshman.

Bill, like his father, is modest. When informed of his new honors, he was quick to give credit to the entire defensive unit which stacked up the Ohio State running attack and held the Buckeyes to only 42 yards.

Coach Forest Evashevski pointed out that Bill only missed two plays in the game. "Evy," too, was proud of his captain—and every man on the line.

"The whole line played a terrific ball game," he said.

Bill, Iowa's youngest football captain at 19, not only is an exceptional athlete, he is a top scholar. A third year pre-medic student, he has had only three Bs'. The other grades were all A's.

New Waiver Rule Aimed at Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—A new waiver rule — apparently aimed at the New York Yankees — is up for approval by baseball moguls. It provides a club must obtain waivers from the 15 other major league teams before it can sell a player to a team in the other loop after July 31.

The major - minor executive council drew up the new rule yesterday and experts expressed the opinion it was designed to stop the Yankees from acquiring players such as those who have helped them win pennants the past four years.

Johnny Mize, Johnny Sain, Ewell Blackwell and Johnny Hopp all joined the Yanks via the waiver route and helped them to pennants. They were purchased under the current rule whereby a club needs only to obtain waivers from the other seven teams in its own league to dispose of a player for the waiver price of $10,000.

The new rule has to be ratified by a majority of clubs in each league before it becomes official.

The record for field-goal kick- at West Virginia U. is held by Ed Kenna who in 1901 booted three for distances of 42, 45 and 50 yards in a single game.

T&C Sportsmen Play Air Base Here Tonight

Town and Country Sportsmen, a basketball team that believes in thrillers, will play one game and possibly two at Horace Mann gym tonight. They meet the Sedalia Air Force Base squad at 7 and will play Stover at 9 if Stover can be here.

In three games this season, the Sportsmen have gone overtime twice — beating the Air Base in one of those tilts —and they lost the other tilt by a single point—to Stover.

Whether its one game or two, the T&C five is expected to furnish thrills for all who are on hand.

Sooners Set For Easy Win At Ia. State

KANSAS CITY, (AP) — It's been pointed out dozens of times the Big Seven football that eventually beats Oklahoma will be the team least expected to do it.

This isn't to predict that Iowa State will beat Oklahoma at Ames, Ia., Saturday, but just to point out that the Sooners have lost only twice in 24 games in this series.

Coach Abe Stuber has a thin, but unpredictable team at Iowa State. The Cyclones outgained and outclassed Colorado before losing 21-12. Oklahoma came from behind to tie Colorado 21-21.

Oklahoma will be in its thirty-third Big Seven game without a defeat, but even with the percentages mounting against them the Sooners appear more than capable of continuing towards an undefeated season.

Stuber always brews a new defense and adds plays to his attack for the Oklahoma game. The Sooners' 1950 national champions won only 20-7 at Ames. Oklahoma's highest score against a Stuber team was 35 points last year. That's something teams like Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas State and Colorado can't boast of.

"We'll be ready for Oklahoma. We'll give them everything we've got," Stuber said yesterday.

The Cyclones are handicapped by injuries. Ends Roger Cunningham and Bob Rohwedden and tackle Clyde Titus will be unable to play because of injuries. Halfback Frank Congiardo also is on the injury list and may see only limited duty.

The Sooners have been concentrating on pass defense, expecting Iowa State to emphasize aerial play.

The Kansas State Wildcats, who meet the Kansas Jayhawks Saturday, were hopeful that three of their top players, out of action for two games with injuries, may be able to play. The three are Jack McShulskis, ex-Army end; Ken Barr, No. 1 defensive end, and Larry Hartshorn, first string defensive tackle.

The heavily favored Jayhawks went through a hard workout, with second and third stringers playing in place of some of the regulars.

At Lincoln, where the Nebraska Cornhuskers are preparing for Missouri, Bob Reynolds was named game captain. The 1950 All America back is expected to see duty only as extra point and field goal kicker, however, because of an injury.

Both Missouri and Nebraska went through their last rough work of the week. They play at Lincoln.

Colorado also wound up its hard work for a non-conference game against Utah at Salt Lake City.

With winter pounding-down-the-pike, the 50 Hiway Drive-In Theatre prsents its final program of the 1952 season starting Friday and playing through Sunday. The top attraction is the Technicolor thrill adventure, "Hong Kong" starring Ronald Reagan and Rhonda Fleming. To add to the smash finale of the outdoor season, the Drive-In management has added another smashing adventure to the program, "The Tougher They Come," starring Wayne Morris and Preston Foster. The Drive-In will present its final 1952 showing on Sunday, November 2nd.

Sports Roundup---

Marciano Will Meet Wolcott In Either March or June

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano will defend his heavyweight title against Jersey Joe Walcott either in March, indoors, or in June under the stars, probably the latter, and from there on the strong boy from Brockton will fight no oftener than once a year.

All this on the word of his manager, Al Weill, who is so busy taking in money these days that he has been forced to hire a special accountant, a regular accountant, a secretary and a full-time lawyer just to see that none of the green stuff gets thrown out with the trash.

"I've been telling Jim Norris (president of the International Boxing Club) that we should wait and hold it outdoors and draw a million and a half, easy," Al said, "but Jim keeps talking about holding it indoors in the Chicago Stadium in March. Of course, I'm so close to Jim that if he insists I'll go along with him, but I think we ought to hold it right here in June. We would get who'e trainloads of Rocky fans down from New England.

"Only drawback about fighting here is that Felix Bocchicchio, Joe's manager, still hasn't got a license to work in this state, and the return contract that Norris gave him said it would have to be in a state where Felix is welcome. Personally I think that if we want to hold it here the boxing commission would go along with us this time and give Felix a license.

"Rocky and me want to get this commitment off our hands so we can go on and make some real money," Al continued expansively. "We'll fight just once a year. That's plenty often enough for a champion to fight, and besides we can make more getting around the country than fighting every few months. Rocky is the greatest attraction since Dempsey. We're not getting the five grand a night that Jack got when he was champion, but we're doing all right at between $1,750 and $2,000 a show."

Having cleaned out the East fairly well for the time being, Rocky and his eager pilot are taking off the West within a few days to harvest the top crop in that region. They start at Dayton, O., the first of next week, and will hit more than a score of cities before they wind it up in mid-December.

Rocky is refereeing both boxing and wrestling shows, and sometimes he simply makes personal appearances at theaters. Everywhere they love him, Weill says.

Perhaps it should be pointed out that, in addition to his money appearances, Marciano also has made scores of visits to hospitals and has given his time freely to various worthy causes.

Edwards was high man for the winners with 16 points while Don Brown topped the Moose scoring with 20. George Thompson was outstanding on defense for the losers.

Eckhoffs Given Dinner on 25th Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Eckhoff, 1104 South Sneed, were honored with a dinner given Wednesevening by Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Condray, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter and Mr. and Mrs. William Reid at the Conrad home, 1108 South Sneed.

The occasion was the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Eckhoff.

The table was covered with a lace cloth and a color scheme of white, pink and silver was used. The wedding cake, decorated with pink and white roses, silver leaves and beads and with a silver 25 on top, formed the centeriece for the table. On either side were silver bowls filled with chrysanthemums.

The honored guests were presented with a gift by the group.

After the dinner the evening was spent in reminiscing and a delightful musical program, with selections appropriate to the occasion, was given.

Seated at the table with Mr. and Mrs. Eckhoff were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carpenter, Mrs. Eva Gilchrist, Mr. and Mrs. William Reid and daughter, Jackie Den, and Mr. and Mrs. Condray and son, H. D. Condray Jr.

Former Sedalian Wed In Oklahoma

Miss Mary Elizabeth Rohrs, daughter of Mrs. Henry F. Rohrs, Delaware, Okla., and the late Mr. Rohrs, became the bride of Mr. Henry Joseph Brosseau Jr., son of Mrs. Henry J. Brosseau of Tulsa, Okla., and the late Mr. Brosseau, at 9:30 Saturday morning, September 13, at the St. Francis Xavier Church in Tulsa.

The bride lived in Sedalia for several years, being employed at the Metropolitan Insurance Company. She shared an apartment with Miss Mary Karthyn Harvey in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lacer.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. John L. Walch, of Chandler, cousin of the bridegroom, before an altar setting of tall baskets of seasonal flowers and ferns interpersed with candelabra. The main altar bouquets were of white seasonal flowers.

Mrs. A. R. Hassler, organist, provided wedding music and accompanied Miss Mary Ann Brandt, who sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus", "O Lord We Are Not Worthy", and "Oh This Day".

Ecsorted to the altar by her brother, Mr. Andrew Rohrs, the bride wore an imported Chantilly lace and nylon net dress of ballerina length. The fitted bodice was of lace and finished with a halter neckline. The lace jacked nestled into a full bouyant skirt of nylon net with lace panel down the front. Her fingertip veil of imported nylon illusion was trimmed with Chantilly lace and secured by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book on which was a white orchid showered with white satin streamers.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Schmidt attended the bride as maid of honor. Her ballerina length dress was aqua blue net designed with lace panels down the front. The standup neckline was edged with Chantilly lace and she carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. William Joyce served as best man and Mr. Dick Rush and Mr. Martin O'Brien were ushers.

Mrs. Rohrs, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue dress with navy and white accessories and Mrs. Brosseau, mother of the bridegroom, wore a crepe dress of plum shade with orchid accessories. Both mothers had orchid corsages.

A reception was held following the wedding at the home of the bridegroom's mother.

The couple left on a wedding trip through the Ozarks and are now at home in Tulsa. For traveling the bride wore a navy silk shantung suit, navy and white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Japs Draw a Lemon With Orange Cargo

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — For 20 years, Japanese horticulturists have been trying to grow an orange that will ripen in time for the Canadian Thanksgiving trade.

This year they thought they did it.

A Japanese businessman arrived here today with 40,000 cases of the fruit—only to find that the Canadian Thanksgiving was Oct. 13, almost seven weeks instead of two weeks ahead of the American holiday.

The businessman said somebody in his Tokyo office handed him the lemon—the wrong date.

Ask Probe Of Tax Claim For $5 Million

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. Martin (R-Pa) today asked the Justice Department to investigate the settlement of a $5,166,380 tax claim for $295,000.

Martin said in a letter to Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery that the claim was against the late William Fox, film and theater executive, for 1935 and "all prior years."

The senator said the claim involved taxes, penalties and interest and that from information he acquired "it would appear that the government could have recovered the entire amount."

Martin said that at the time of the settlement in 1941 the FBI was of the opinion that an important stock transfer was not made until four years after Fox had said it was made. And, Martin said, the Internal Revenue Bureau knew of the FBI's findings.

Martin said the compromise settlement was accepted by the then Attorney general, Francis Biddle, on Dec. 5, 1941, and the money was paid to the collector of internal revenue in New York on Feb. 10, 1942.

Informed of Martin's letter to McGranery, Commissioner of Internal Revenue John Dunlap released a letter to Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance Committee, of which Martin is a member.

Dunlap's lengthy letter, dated June 4, was similar in content to Martin's letter. It said that, before the compromise settlement was accepted, the revenue bureau had "informal" advice that the trust for Mrs. Fox was not executed until 1935. It said that, while legal memoranda and correspondence mention an FBI report, no FBI report on the case apparently was ever received by the revenue bureau.

Dunlap said the revenue bureau settled for $295,000 because it felt that was all that could be obtained.

Martin asked McGranery to determine if political pressure was exerted or anything illegal done to obtain the settlement; to learn if any employes who handled the case are now working for the Treasury, Justice Department or Internal Revenue Bureau, and to see if the government could "recover the $4,871,380 loss suffered by the taxpayers."

Martin's letter, made public by his office, included a review of Fox's financial affairs. Martin said the facts appear to be as follows:

In 1930 Fox sold his interest in Fox Theaters Corp. and Fox Film Corp. for 21 million dollars. The same year he created a holding company, the All Continent Corp. Later Fox transferred nearly all of his assets to the holding company and to his family.

In 1936 Fox filed a petition of voluntary bankruptcy, claiming assets of about $400. The claims filed against him totaled $56,461,974. Fox claimed he had transferred his stock in All Continent to his wife and other relatives and that the stock therefore was not subject to claim.

In 1938 Fox made a compromise offer of $500,000 but an Internal Revenue Bureau lawyer named O'Dunne rejected it.

An amended offer was made later but John J. Quinn, U. S. attorney for New Jersey, declared that "if the suit of the trustee in bankruptcy is vigorously prosecuted an amount will be recovered . . . far in excess of the . . . compromise."

Pettis County Voters Won't Vote for President Tuesday

When Pettis County voters go to the polls this fall in the presidential election, they won't actually be voting for presidential candidates, no matter their party. They will be electing Missouris' members to the electoral college.

The Electoral College system is a strange thing. Under it the next president could win even if he gets fewer votes than his opponent.

The Constitution says the president must be chosen by a group of "qualified" men known as electors. These men make up the Electoral College.

The college meets after the election. Its only job is to choose the president. The votes of the electors make the election 'official."

Each state has as many electors as it has senators and representatives in Congress. There are 96 senators (two from each state) and 435 representatives in all.

A state can choose its electors any way it wants to. In most states the names of the electors appear on the ballot. There are usually two lists. The Republicans have one and the Democrats have one. Generally the electors are listed under the name of the candidate they will vote for.

In other states, the electors' names aren't even printed on the ballots. But no matter how abscured these electors may be, the United States can't have a president without them.

After the electors cast their 'official" votes, the ballots are sealed and sent to the president of the Senate in Washington.

The votes are counted and recorded at a joint session of the Senate and House. Until that's done, the election isn't legal.

In every state, the candidate who wins the most popular votes wins all the electoral vote from that state. Because of this, a candidate could be elected president even though he won only 12 states:

Pennsylvania, Illinois, California, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Ohio, Texas and Wisconsin.

These dozen states have 269 electoral votes, a majority in the Electoral College. Even if a candidate wins the other 36 states and has a majority of the popular votes, he loses the presidency.

Three times in U. S. History presidents have gone into the White House with fewer popular votes than their opponents.

The first was in 1824. Andrew Jackson won more electoral votes than John Quincy Adams. But he lacked a majority since there was a third candidate. In such cases the law requires that the House choose the winner by simple majority, with each state casting one vote. Adams was elected.

The House once elected a president because the electoral vote was tied. Thomas Jefferson was chosen over Aaron Burr.

In 1876 Rutherford B. Hayes lost the popular vote majority but won the presidency from Samuel Tilden with a majority of the electoral vote.

Grover Cleveland beat Benjamin Harrison the same way in 1884.

Start on Revisions For Immigration Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special commission named by President Truman today started sifting a mass of suggestions for revising the new McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

The seven-member group, headed by former Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman, is due to submit its recommendations before Jan. 1 for consideration by the new congress. It heard more than 400 witnesses in a dozen cities, winding up testimony here yesterday.

Hearing on Proposed Cut-off for River

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A public hearing will be held Nov. 17 on a proposed cut-off channel which would take a big kink out of the Missouri River at Kansas City.

Col. L. J. Lincoln, army district engineer, said the channel, if approved, will start near the Kansas City waterworks and follow a bluff at the northern limits of North Kansas City for two and one half miles.

The plan is part of a flood control program made in a Senate committee resolution submitted by Sen. Thomas Hennings.

Inflammable Masks Found In Stores

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A series of pre-Halloween raids on local stores has turned up more than 2,000 highly inflammable false faces, Fire Marshall William A. Haas reported today.

The masks were described as being "dangerous torches."

Mexicans Seek Reds Along Southern Border

MEXICO CITY (AP) Mexican special agents were reported hunting Communists—including maybe some from Europe—on the Guatemalan border today.

A government source said the agents had been sent to Chipas State, on the border, to investigate reports of Red activity. He added that they had special instructions to check on rumors, as yet unconfirmed, that several Communist agitators from Eastern Europe had crossed the border.

Smith-Cotton High News---

Rev. Neal Speaks at Senior Assembly on Youth 'Horizons'

By Ruth Maurine Hoffman

The Rev. Warren Neal spoke before the Smith-Cotton senior assembly Wednesday morning. The title of his talk was "Horizons Limited or Unlimited".

He stated that young men and women must realize that almost all of what they possess has been given to them by their parents and ancestors.

To be worthy of these gifts, he continued, yonng men and women must recognize their value, use them to the best advantage, and pass them on to posterity.

For an individual to engage in childish pranks, such as defacing furniture, or to endanger his body by intemperate drinking, is his own admission that he does not appreciate his heritage, Rev. Neal said further.

He stated the traits of character necessary for the development of one's participating talents are disciples, honesty, courage, courtesy and compassion. He concluded his talk by saying the best trait of character possible was the ability of a persoin to give hmiself away for other people.

Atomic Enery Truck And Two Autos Crash; 3 Persons Injured

BATES CITY, Mo. (AP) — Three persons were injured yesterday in the collision of an Atomic Energy Commission truck and two automobiles.

The truck, loaded with atomic energy waste materials, burned for nearly seven hours. It was carry-38,000 pounds of the material to the AEC division at the Bendix Corporation in Kansas City. The cargo, in leadlined boxes, was to be taken to Bendix today.

Injured in the crash were Mrs. Mae Karnopp, 68, of Kansas City; J. O. Bishop, 54, of Johnson County, Kas., and Chester R. Rea Jr., 29, of Oak Ridge Tenn., a passenger in the truck. William E. Hayes, 34, the truck driver, was uninjured.

Jury Acquits Mother In Death of Husband

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — A Hannibal jury yesterday acquitted a 24-year-old mother of two children charged with second degree murder in the shotgun slaying of her husband.

The woman, Mrs. Clenna O'Brien, fainted as she heard the verdict in the Hannibal Court of Common Pleas. The jury ruled that Mrs. O'Brien was temporarily insane at the time of slaying in her home Sept. 29, 1950.

Originally the young mother had been charged with first degree murder. The charge was reduced at the start of the trial Monday.

Missouri's Travel Business May Reach To $250 Millions

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Early predictions indicate Missouri's vacation and travel business may stack up to better than $250,000,000 this year, the State Division of Resources and Development reported today.

That would be another new record in the fast growing recreation and travel field.

The division said operators of tourist resorts and camps reported business this year probably would total about 16 per cent better than in 1951, when the estimated value of the travel and recreation business came to more than $218,000,000.

The division said most operators figure next year would be even better as more and more tourists are coaxed into coming to the show-me state for the first time or return to enjoy its vacation and recreation facalities.

Senate Elections Group Expecting Worst After Nov. 4

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Senate Elections subcommittee, recently reorganized under the chairmanship of Sen. Hennings (D-Mo), is bracing itself for the aftermath of next week's voting.

Paul J. Cotter, the subcommittee's chief counsel, said today that judging from past experience the group can expect a lot of complaints after the Nov. 4 balloting.

The subcommittee, a unit of the Senate Rules Committee, has the job of policing senatorial campaigns and of handling any contests that grow out of the election.

A foretaste of what may be coming was a complaint filed yesterday from Maine, where voters cast their ballots two months ahead of the rest of the nation.

James C. Oliver, who was the Democratic nominee for governor, challenged the fitness and qualifications of Maine's Republican senator-elect, Frederick G. Payne, and asked the subcommittee to investigate.

Cotter, a former FBI agent, told a reporter that, anticipating a heavy increase in the subcommittee's work load, he put some trained investigators on his staff and lined up others to call on if needed.

The Senate last spring voted the subcommittee $100,000 in addition to the $8,5000 allotted to the group since the start of the 82nd Congress in January, 1951.

Boo to You, Too---

So, you're going Hallowe'ening
And pranks are on your mind;
Well stay away from our house,
'Cause we're the fiendish kind.

We took out all our windows.
Our door bell does not ring;
Our garbage can is out of sight;
We've taken in the swing.

There are no tires on our car.
The rake is out of reach.
And—oh yes, hungry Fido
Was taken off his leash.

What? You're going Hallowe'ening
But just for gentle fun.
Then come, all come, to our house.
We have handouts for each one.

Cupps Injured In Accident Enroute to New Home Town

By Mrs. Minnie Johnson

PLEASANT GREEN — Mr. and Mrs. Alva Cupp, who recently purchased the Roy Pollard home, moved here from Kansas City recently and on their way here were involved in a serious car accident near Sweet Springs. Both Mr. Mrs. E. G. Asbury and Mrs. Fred They were given treatment at the first aid station there and brought by ambulance to their home. Their car was completely demolished.

NEW YORK (AP)—Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about starting a Be Kind to Weatherman Week.

I think it's about time we were a little nicer to the weather man. After all, he doesn't make the stuff himself. He just takes what the manufacturer sends him. Don't blame him for the final product.

A weather man has feelings, too, I discovered in talking with Ernest J. Christie, meteorologist in charge of the U. S. Weather Bureau in New York.

Christie gets a little tired of hearing sports announcers say, "the weather man wasn't very kind to us today." He flinches when he meets an acquaintance in the rain who complains, "fine day you brought us."

"You'd be surprised how many people still blame us for the weather," Christie says. "Why not blame the weather? And if they're going to blame rain on us, why not give us credit for the sunshine. People rarely do."

Christie finds that many people are still mentally lazy where weather is concerned. They call his office with all sorts of questions. Should I take the baby out today? Will the race track be fast or muddy? Should I close all the windows before I leave? Does my boy need a raincoat today?

"All we can do," Christie says, "is repeat the forecast to them. We never advise people what to do. They must make up their own minds."

When they're not blaming bad weather on the weather man, some people blame it on things they don't understand—like the explosion of an atom bomb. "The effects of an atomic explosion in the atmosphere," Christie explains, "is very, very small compared to the amount of transformations of energy in the upper air needed to produce weather changes."

Some people get so mad about the weather they've even threatened to phone their congressman about the weather man. This has happened to Jim Osmun, assistant meteorologist at the bureau here. But among his own neighbors in a New Jersey suburb, he is an object of respectful attention.

If Jim steps out of the house in the morning wearing a raincoat, a couple of neighbors frequently will return for theirs.

Like anybody else, a weather man is not impartial about the weather.

"I personally prefer a day when the wind is less than 12 miles an hour, when the humidity is below 80 per cent, the temperature is around 70 and there's just enough clouds in the sky for a contrast between the blue and white," Osmun said.

Summer Sleep

The word hibernate carries the idea of winter. Some creatures, such as certain snails, pass the summer in a torpor and this is known as estivation.

There are no penguins north of the equator except those in captivity.

27 Organizations Back State Amendment No. 2 for Nov. 4

At least 27 prominent organizations in Missouri have endorsed the proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 2 which would double the amount of money a school district can borrow for a bond issue, according to the Committee for Constitutional Amendment 2, with headquarters in Columbia.

The proposed amendment provides that a school district may borrow up to ten per cent of its assessed valuation of tangible property. It would amend the constitutional provision that a district may now borrow only up to five per cent of that assessed valuation.

The committee lists as three chief reasons why the proposed amendment should be adopted in the following statements:

More than 173,000 more children will be enrolled in Missouri schools in 1958 than in 1948 requiring 6,416 additional classrooms and other necessary facilities.

There is an accumulated building need due to years of depression, war and material shortages when normal building replacements could not be made.

School construction costs have increased 130 per cent since 1939.

The organizations reported as having endorsed the proposed amendment are:

Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers, Missouri Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers, Missouri Association of School Boards, Missouri State Chamber of Commerce, Missouri Farm Bureau Federatioin, American Legion, Department of Missouri, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Missouri, League of Women Voters of Missouri, American Association of University Women, Missouri Division, Central Trades and Labor Union of St. Louis and Vicinity, American Federation of Labor.

State's Senate Candidates Ask Look at Records

By The Associated Press

Missouri's senatorial candidates told their audiences to look over past records before voting on election day.

Sen. James P. Kem, speaking in St. Louis, said his Democratic opponent, Stuart Symington "is a part and parcel of the very administration which has been the most extravagant, most wasteful, most corrupt and most callous to the taxpayers of any administration in the history of the country."

Kem said Symington's record is strictly one of spending the people's money.

"Have we any reason now to expect that he will reverse his whole experience and start saving if he becomes a senator?" Kem asked.

Symington, in a televised address at Kansas City said he was running for senator "because I believe we must retire these misguided people who place other things ahead of America's security."

The Democrat stated Kem voted to cut defenses against communism by 1½ billion dollars and against taking the fleet out of mothballs and voted to cut defense funds six billion dollars.

"General Eisenhower has termed NATO the hope of the world," Symington said. "My opponent has termed it a sinkhole for the American taxpayer's money x x x and in June 1948 voted against even the concept of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

At Kirksville, Howard Elliott, Republican nominee for governor said that the people of Missouri have paid millions of dollars into the state treasury the last 10 years which the state did not need for efficient operation.

Elliott said he voted against some appropriation bills to get them re - written so the money "could be used for the proper purposes."

Pie Supper, Program At Cartwright School

A pie supper was held at Cartwright school on Thursday, Oct. 23, at which time the following program was presented.

A song-game, "Skip to My Lou," with all the children participating; a play, "Aunt Betsy and the New Minister," by Carolyn Conaway, Joe Morgan, and Barbara Conaway; the first grade pupils, J. R. Greer, Kathy Jo Cooper and Jami Ann Walk, sang a song, "The Hungry Pussy Cat," with piano accompaniment by Joyce Stephens; Bill Stephens recited, "Just One Lickin' After Another;" "Driving From The Back Seat," a play, was enacted by Marjorie Wagner and Darrell Todd; the pupil's part of the program closed with the novelty song number, "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," with Dale Conaway, Nancy Major, Darrel Todd, Barbara Conaway, Betty Conaway, Rusty Wagner, Marjorie Wagner, Joe Morgan, Bill Stephens, Carolyn Conaway and Joyce Stephens.

Following this, a program of special music was given James Rennison and Clay Killion Jr., sang, "The Old Oaken Bucket" and "When It's Springtime In The Rockies," asking the audience to join in the latter. Mrs. Grover Meeker was accompanist. The Shelton sisters sang, "Too Old to Cut the Mustard" and "From the Manger to the Cross," accompanied by their mother. Then Bill Wright played several guitar and piano numbers on the multichord.

The auctioning of pies and boxes was done by Hammond and Mabry. Approximately $115 was cleared.

As the Two Parties See
The 'Lies' and the Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: As the presidential race comes down toward the finish, the word "lie" is heard from both Republicans and Democrats with increasing frequency. In the following dispatches, NEA Service and The Democrat-Capital have given official spokesmen for both parties a chance to answer the outstanding accusations against their own candidates.

THE LIE: The U.S. Government is honeycombed with Communists, and plays footsie with Stalin.

THE ANSWER: The U.S. Government has enacted laws against Communist encroachment at home, has screened government employes and fired Communists. Outside government employe ranks, the U.S. has indicted and jailed prominent Communist leaders. Abroad, the U.S. has strengthened anti-Communist forces all over the world. The Marshall Plan stopped the growth of communism in Europe and strengthened anti-Communist governments. The Truman Doctrine helped save Greece and Turkey from Communist conquest. The North Atlantic Treaty knit free nations of Europe into a defense alliance against the Communist military threat.

THE LIE: The Democratic Party has been leading us into the bondage of socialism, and plans to carry us further.

THE ANSWER: What Republicans call "socialism" is represented by the Democratic advances in social progress over the past 20 years—the minimum wage law, Social Security, aid for the aged needy, dependents, the blind and for children. Private ownership and opportunity — the OPPOSITE of socialism — have greatly increased under the Democrats. Private businesses today number more than four million—a million better than in 1929, the best year of Republican control of the government.

THE LIE: The government is corrupt, and the Democratic Party has tolerated corruption.

THE ANSWER: Exposures of wrongdoing within the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and the Department of Justice have been carried out by Democratic Congressional committees, aided by the Democratic government's intelligence units—not by Republicans. President Truman has given wholehearted support to these exposures and to the punishment handed down by judges of the courts. The Democrats have refused to smear victims indiscriminately with the tar of dishonesty, and have acted when and only when investigated facts justified action.

THE LIE: Democratic prosperity rests only on war spending.

THE ANSWER: For the first time in history after a major war, NO depression followed World War II in the United States. The Democratic Administration maintained full employment, despite a drop in arms spending of 90 per cent.

THE LIE: The Korean war is a "useless war," and we got into it through "bungling policies."

THE ANSWER: We got into the Korean conflict because the North Korean Communists invaded South Korea. Not only Congress, but General Eisenhower himself, approved the action of President Truman in summoning military forces of the Free World to stand against Communists in Korea. General Eisenhower, as a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in 1947 joined in a statement to the Secretary of State that the U.S. had no strategic interest in continued occupation of Korea. Troops were not finally withdrawn until after General Douglas MacArthur advised the Pentagon that South Korean forces were ready to defend their land.

THE LIE: The Democrats have led us into three wars and will do it again.

THE ANSWER: The Germans, under Kaiser Wilhelm, forced us into the first World War. The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor drew us into World War II. Invasion of South Korea by Communists from North Korea, started the conflict in Korea. It is Russian aggression and Red policies—not the Democrats—which today threaten world peace.

THE LIE: The Democrats are responsible for inflation.

THE ANSWER: Democrats have steadily moved against inflation, with provisions for price, rent and credit control, allocation of scarce and strategic materials, as well as adequate taxation. The Republican voting record in Congress is one of unflagging opposition to all such controls.

THE LIE: Republicans favor a labor policy beneficial to working men and women.

THE ANSWER: Republicans wrote into their 1952 Platform endorsement of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act. Republicans fought establishment of minimum wages, shorter hours, restrictions on child labor, unemployment insurance and laws compelling employers to improve safety precautions, sanitation and light in factories.

THE LIE: Republicans said this in their 1952 Platform: "We favor a farm program aimed at full parity prices for all farm products in the market place."

THE ANSWER: As recently as June 30 last, 53 per cent of House Republicans voted against even 90 per cent price supports. The 90 per cent parity bill was put through because 79 per cent of House Democrats voted for it.

THE LIE: The Republican Platform plank on national defense says: ". . . We shall see to it that our military services are adequately supported in all ways required . . ."

THE ANSWER: 94 per cent of House Republicans voted to limit defense expenditures during fiscal 1945 to $46 billions. This would have reduced the number of new medium tanks from 3400 down to 300, and delayed attainment of Air Force readiness by two years.

THE LIE: Ike is a "captive."

THE ANSWER: General Eisenhower has reiterated throughout the campaign that he is a "no deal" candidate. The administration spokesmen wanted him to start a civil war within his own party. He hasn't engaged in such conflict because he believes in the two-party system, not in a foreign splinter-party system. He believes that party unity is a prerequisite for national unity, and he is enough of a leader to know that leadership in a democracy does not require thought control over everyone he seeks to lead.

THE LIE: Ike is "plain dishonest," "morally blind," "unfit to be President," is "living in the past," and so forth.

THE ANSWER: Such typical Truman-Stevenson accusations are no more worthy of answer than the people who made them are worthy of public support. But it is significant that the man who said most of these things about General Eisenhower in recent weeks was perfectly willing to entrust the future of Western Europe to his hands. He even offered to help make Ike President—on the Democratic ticket.

THE LIE: Ike will bring on a depression because he is the candidate of "the party of depression."

THE ANSWER: General Eisenhower is clearly on the record with a pledge to use every power at his command, both private and public, to prevent the people of this country from ever again being exposed to the ravages of mass unemployment. Incidentally, the implication in this accusation that only the Democratic party knows how to cure depressions is typically false. In 1940 there were still more than 10 million unemployed in this country. This was seven years after the Democrats came to power. The Democratic Party only cured mass unemployment by going to war.

THE LIE: Ike is anti-Catholic and anti-Semitic—in short, he is a bigot.

THE ANSWER: Such accusations, direct and indirect, marked a new low in American politics and brought immediate outbursts of indignation from leaders of all religious groups. That this great personal friend of Catholic leaders and the liberator of Buchenwald should be so accused shows how desperate the administration is in the face of defeat.

THE LIE: Eisenhower favors lower pay and longer periods of active service for soldiers.

THE ANSWER: This is a false accusation which is particularly vicious because of Eisenhower's long service in the Army and close association with GIs. Let him answer this one in his own words as he did for a young man about to be drafted who asked him about it on a television program in Kansas City in September. The General replied: ". . . I am against any cut in the soldier's pay who's serving today in the Armed Forces. I am against his doing any more service in uniform than is necessary and which constitutes his fair share and until it is somebody else's turn to take his place . . . beyond that I am for a soldier whenever I find him, because I spent my life looking after and for and with the fighting man."

THE LIE: Eisenhower can't reduce the federal budget.

THE ANSWER: This is a typical fabrication by the Party of Can't. Just because the present administration can't do a number of things that have to be done is no proof whatever that they will not be done under a new, efficient leadership. General Eisenhower has pledged to cut out waste—even in the defense budget—and he knows how.

THE LIE: General Eisenhower is opposed to social security.

THE ANSWER: The General has urged extension of social security. He has contended that the administration converted social security into social INsecurity when it failed to halt inflation. Pensions, savings accounts, life insurance protection, and even savings bonds have been watered down in value by administration dilly-dallying with inflation.

THE LIE: That Harry Truman and Adlai Stevenson are budget-

THE ANSWER: By leaving out the first and last fiscal years of his two terms in the White House, and then crediting to the Democratic ledger the $9 billions of savings achieved by the "terrible" 80th Congress, Truman manages to show a $4 billions surplus. His actual deficit was $27 billions. If it had not been for the economies achieved by the Republican 80th Congress it would have been $36 billions. As for Governor Stevenson, his budgets showed receipts of $77 millions less than expenditures, making an annual deficit of slightly more than $25 millions a year. On paper, however, he achieved "balanced" budgets by drawing upon the $150 million surplus left by his Republican predecessor. As budget UNbalancers it would be difficult to compete with General Eisenhower's two opponents.

Officer Charged In Desertions

BANDUNG, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian military police have arrested an army major, commander of an infantry battalion in West Java, who is charged with complicity in connection with a number of organized desertions among his men. It is believed they have joined the terrorist forces.

Meanwhile the army command has ordered full-scale investigations into the political reliability of certain army units and their officers.

Dodo, the Orphan Dove, Has Gay Time as Household Pet

It was after the tornado hit last Fair Week that a woman found the little nest that a pair of doves had built near her house and in the nest were two baby doves.

The woman took the two shivering little doves into her house and one of them died. But the other one survived the ordeal in great shape and not only that but he liked living in a house. He was so little the woman had to feed him and keep him warm and then he got spoiled.

Later the woman sold her home and moved in with friends and of course she had to take the little dove, Dodo, along with her.

Dodo is kept in a little hall between the kitchen and the sun room and he doesn't like being alone. When he hears voices in the kitchen he pecks on the kitchen door and when he hears voices in the sun room he pecks on the sun room door.

He likes heads, particularly women's heads (they look more like bird's nests) and every chance he gets he gets on his owner's head. If she bends over to get something out of a low cabinet he goes on down her back and when she straightens up again he climbs right back up to her shoulder or —better still, her head — that favorite spot. Sometimes he pulls hair, too, and if he doesn't like something he slaps with his wings.

He is quite content to sit on the white cloth that is put on the arm of a chair in the living room for him and listen to the conversation.

One day recently a party was given in the home and did Dodo have fun. There were more lovely bird's nests — with curls and hairnets and combs. Why he just flitted from one head to the other and everybody laughed. He was the life of the party — and he knew it.

Well, Dodo presents quite a problem. The woman took him in when he was so little he couldn't take care of himself and he has been raised such a sissy that now she is afraid to put him out because he still doesn't know how to take care of himself. She is afraid she might get arrested for keeping him in the house, but she doesn't have the heart to put him out. But Dodo isn't worrying. He thinks he is a mighty lucky bird.
